- ☐ Review your results:

For topics where you scored well, identify areas the program can help you with. Review the material that you did wrong on to help you get better at next time.

For topics where you scored low, focus your attention on these topics and make them one of the main topics to study throughout the month leading up to your exam.

For topics you want to add into your study plan, research your diagnostic results. If you score 80% or above on a topic, it is better to focus on your other weaker areas. If you score 60% or below, you may want to add that topic to your study plan.

You can also look for topics which you scored near on the diagnostic to make sure you have enough time to study them as they are close to being ready for review.
