Smart Nanomaterials for Environmental Applications Olusola Olaitan Ayeleru, Azeez Olayiwola Idris, Sadanand Pandey, Peter Apata Olubambi, 2024-08-26 Smart nanomaterials are making their presence ever so noticeable in areas like environmental protection and remediation as well as in many other fields of study The international team of expert researchers behind

Smart Nanomaterials for Environmental Applications aims to spotlight the latest rapid developments in the design and manipulation of materials at the nanoscale and to concisely present information regarding their novel methods of utilization for the safeguard of the environment while at the same time apprising readers of challenges encountered and anticipated prospects. The volume illustrates state of the art actionable content which is relevant and extremely valuable for those who want to apply this up to date knowledge in industry too. Offers fundamentals of smart nanomaterials including characterization design and fabrication methods. Includes advanced information on fine tuning different morphologies of smart nanomaterials. Features three case studies on real life applications of smart nanomaterials. Information, Knowledge, and Technology for Teaching and Research in Africa Dennis Ocholla, Omwoyo Bosire Onyancha, Aderonke Olaitan Adesina, 2024-06-01. This book focuses on data and knowledge management for teaching and research in Africa. The importance of the information and knowledge society in current times is recognized and adopts a meta analysis to demonstrate that modernization theory could be applied to economic development and rapid transformation of ISWEs in South Africa. The book argues that modernity and the information and knowledge society present the shift and transition from the traditional way of doing things through information and communication technologies ICTs which could bring about developing progressing and advancing developing communities particularly Informal Sector Women Entrepreneurs ISWEs. The book also has further shows how the modernization theory could be applied to the plight of ISWEs to assist them in leapfrogging from their situation and enjoying global business platforms. Various techniques and strategies for collaborative engagements among academics towards strengthening scholarly ties within institutions and across borders especially in Africa are presented. This is a valuable source for understanding the contemporary issues in information and knowledge management sharing and collaboration among university academics for undergraduates and postgraduate students in the library and information science profession. Tacit knowledge is also presented as an asset that boosts innovation and generates competitive advantage for organizations in all walks of life. Global research data management RDM literature is emphasized in higher education institutions HIEs and their libraries. The status of RDM services as well as the competency requirements of employees responsible for providing RDM services and researchers are addressed in the examined literature.

Quaternary Vegetation Dynamics Jürgen Runge, William Gosling, Anne-Marie Lézine, Louis Scott, 2021-11-28. This book celebrates the relaunch of the African Pollen Database presents state of the art of modern and ancient pollen data from sub Saharan Africa and promotes Open Access science. Pollen grains are powerful tools for the study of past vegetation dynamics because they preserve well within sedimentary deposits and have a huge diversity in ornamentation that allows different taxa to be determined. The reconstruction of past vegetation from the examination of ancient pollen records thus can be used to characterize the nature of past landscapes e.g. abundance of forests vs grasslands provide insights into changes in biodiversity and gain empirical evidence of vegetation response to climatic change and human activity. In this the 35th

Volume of Palaeoecology of Africa we bring together new data and extensive synthetic reviews to provide novel insights into the relationships between human evolution human activity climate change and vegetation dynamics during the Quaternary the last 2.6 million years Current and ongoing climate and land use change is exerting pressure on modern vegetation formations and threatening the livelihoods and wellbeing of many peoples in Africa In this book the focus is on the Quaternary because it is during this geological period that the modern vegetation formations developed into their current configurations against a backdrop of high magnitude global climate change glacial interglacial cycles human evolution and a growing human land use footprint In this book the latest information is presented and collated from around the African continent to parameterize past vegetation states identify the drivers of vegetation change and assess the vegetation resilience to change To achieve this research from two broad themes are covered i the present is the key to the past i.e. studies which improve our understanding of modern environments so that we can better interpret evidence from the past and ii the past is the key to the future i.e. studies which unlock information on how and why vegetation changed in the past so one can better anticipate trajectories of future change This Open Access book will provide a strong foundation for future research exploring past ecological environmental and climatic change within Africa and the surrounding islands The book is organized regionally covering western eastern central and southern Africa and it contains specialized articles focused on particular topics such as modern pollen vegetation relationships and fire as a driver of vegetation change as well as regional and pan African syntheses drawing together decades of research to assess key scientific questions including the role of climate in driving vegetation change and the role of vegetation change in human evolution These articles will be useful to students and teachers from high school to the highest level of university who are interested in the origins and dynamics of vegetation in Africa Furthermore it is also meant to provide societally relevant information that can act as an inspiration for the development of sustainable management practices for the future

Psychosocial Perspectives on Peacebuilding

Brandon Hamber, Elizabeth Gallagher, 2014-11-04 The book Psychosocial Perspectives on Peacebuilding offers a template for those dealing with the aftermath of armed conflict to look at peacebuilding through a psychosocial lens This Volume and the case studies that are in it starts from the premise that armed conflict and the political violence that flows from it are deeply contextual and that in dealing with the impact of armed conflict context matters The book argues for a conceptual shift in which psychosocial practices are not merely about treating individuals and groups with context and culturally sensitive methods and approaches the contributors argue that such interventions and practices should in themselves shape social change This is of critical importance because the psychosocial method continually highlights how the social context is one of the primary causes of individual psychological distress The chapters in this book describe experiences within very different contexts including Guatemala Jerusalem Indian Kashmir Mozambique Northern Ireland South Africa and Sri Lanka The common thread between the case studies is that they each show how psychosocial interventions and practices can influence the peacebuilding environment and foster wider social change Psychosocial Perspectives on Peacebuilding is essential reading for social and peace psychologists as well as for students and researchers in the field of conflict and peace studies and for psychosocial practitioners and those working in post conflict areas for NGO s Trust and Trustworthiness across Cultures Catherine T. Kwantes, Ben C. H. Kuo, 2021-01-31 This book investigates trust in seven different cultural contexts exploring how societal culture can influence our expectations regarding what may be considered trustworthy within a cultural context Although the definition of trustworthiness is clear how it is operationalized and applied in various cultural contexts can vary greatly While certain components of trustworthiness may be universal what a given society expects from individuals and the extent to which they fulfill those expectations plays a role in whether or not those individuals may be trusted Each chapter discusses literature related to trust and trustworthiness within a specific cultural context addresses both etic and emic aspects of decisions to trust another and provides practical implications with a focus on how trustworthiness can be seen in organizational contexts With contributions from international scholars and a diverse range of cross cultural perspectives this unique volume will be of interest to work psychologists HR and management professionals and researchers in organizational behavior Agromining: Farming for Metals Antony van der Ent, Alan J.M.
