The Historiography of Modern Architecture Panayotis

Tournikiotis,2001-02-27 The history of modern architecture as constructed by historians and key texts Writing according to Panayotis Tournikiotis has always exerted a powerful influence on architecture Indeed the study of modern architecture cannot be separated from a fascination with the texts that have tried to explain the idea of a new architecture in a new society During the last forty years the question of the relationship of architecture to its history of buildings to books has been one of the most important themes in debates about the course of modern architecture Tournikiotis argues that the history of modern architecture tends to be written from the present projecting back onto the past our current concerns so that the beginning of the story really functions as a representation of its end In this book the buildings are the quotations while the texts are the structure Tournikiotis focuses on a group of books by major historians of the twentieth century Nikolaus Pevsner Emil Kaufmann Sigfried Giedion Bruno Zevi Leonardo Benevolo Henry Russell Hitchcock Reyner Banham Peter Collins and Manfredo Tafuri In examining these writers thoughts he draws on concepts from critical theory relating architecture to broader historical models

Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle,Stephanus Schmitz,2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore

Berthold Lubetkin's Highpoint II and the Jewish Contribution to Modern English Architecture Deborah Lewittes, 2018-05-15 In 1935 the Russian born Jewish architect Berthold Lubetkin and his firm Tecton designed Highpoint a block of flats in London which Le Corbusier called revolutionary Three years later Lubetkin completed a companion design Yet Highpoint II felt very different and the sense that the ideals of modernism had been abandoned seemed hard to dispute Had modern architecture failed to take root in England This book challenges the belief that English architecture was on hiatus during the 1930s Using Highpoint II as a springboard Deborah Lewittes takes us on a journey through the defining moments of modern English architecture the high points of the period surrounding Highpoint II Drawing on Lubetkin's work and his writings the book argues that he advanced influential lasting theories which were rooted in his design for Highpoint II Lubetkin's work is explored within the context of wider Jewish emigration to London during the interwar years as well as the anti-Semitism that pervaded Britain during the 1930s As Lewittes demonstrates this decade was anything but quiet Providing a new perspective on twentieth century English architecture this book is of interest to students and scholars in architectural history urban studies Jewish studies and related fields

Fallingwater Rising Franklin Toker, 2007-12-18 Fallingwater Rising is a biography not of a person but of the most famous house of the twentieth century Scholars and the public have long extolled the house that Frank Lloyd Wright perched over a Pennsylvania waterfall in 1937 but the full story has never been told When he got the commission to design the house Wright was nearing seventy his youth and his early fame long gone It was the Depression and Wright had no work in sight Into his orbit stepped Edgar J Kaufmann a Pittsburgh department store mogul the smartest retailer in America and a philanthropist with the burning ambition to build a world famous work of architecture It was an unlikely collaboration the Jewish merchant who had little concern for modern architecture and the brilliant modernist who was leery of Jews But the two men collaborated to produce an extraordinary building of lasting architectural significance that brought international fame to them both and confirmed Wright's position as the greatest architect of the twentieth century Fallingwater Rising is also an enthralling family drama involving Kaufmann his beautiful cousin wife Liliane and their son Edgar Jr whose own role in the creation of Fallingwater and its ongoing reputation is central to the story Involving such key figures of the 1930s as Frida Kahlo Albert Einstein Henry R Luce William Randolph Hearst Ayn Rand and Franklin Roosevelt Fallingwater Rising shows us how E J Kaufmann's house became not just Wright's masterpiece but a fundamental icon of American life One of the pleasures of the book is its rich evocation of the upper crust society of Pittsburgh Carnegie Frick the Mellons a society that was socially reactionary but luxury loving and baronial in its tastes hobbies and sexual attitudes Kaufmann had so many mistresses that his store issued them distinctive charge plates they could use without paying Franklin Toker has been studying Fallingwater for eighteen years No one but he could have given us this compelling saga of the most famous private house in the world and the dramatic personal story of the fascinating people who made and used it A major contribution to both architectural and social history Hut Pavilion Shrine:

Architectural Archetypes in Mid-Century Modernism Miles David Samson, 2016-03-09 The phase of American architectural history we call mid century modernism 1940 1980 saw the spread of Modern Movement tenets of functionalism social service and anonymity into mainstream practice It also saw the spread of their seeming opposites Temples arcades domes and other traditional types occur in both modernist and traditionalist forms from the 1950s to the 1970s Hut Pavilion Shrine examines this crossroads of modernism and the archetypal and critiques its buildings and theory The book centers on one particularly important and omnipresent type the pavilion a type which was the basis of major work by Louis I Kahn Paul Rudolph Philip Johnson Minoru Yamasaki and other eminent architects While focusing primarily on the architecture culture of the United States it also includes the work of British European Team X and Scandinavian designers and writers Making connections between formal analysis historical context and theory the book continues lines of inquiry which have been pursued by Neil Levine and Anthony Vidler on representation and by Sarah Goldhagen and Alice Friedman on modernism's forbidden elements of the honorific and the visually pleasurable It highlights the significance of pavilionizing mid century designers such as Victor Lundy John Johansen Eero Saarinen and Edward Durell Stone and shows how frequently essentialist and traditionalist types appeared in the roadside vernacular of drive in restaurants gas stations furniture and car showrooms branch banks and motels The book ties together the threads in mid century architectural theory that addressed aspects of type essential structure and primal humanistic aspects of environment making and discusses how these concerns outlived the mid century moment and in the designs and writings of Aldo Rossi and others they paved the way for Post Modernism

Architecture and Cultural Continuity Christian Frost, 2025-02-06 Architecture and Cultural Continuity explores a dynamic way of viewing architecture arguing that all architecture is best evaluated through active experiences in relation to cultural traditions of community and belonging space ritual and setting A work in three parts the book first analyses in depth the Festival of San Giovanni in Florence an annual series of celebrations involving the entire city Tracing its history from its Roman origins via the Renaissance through to contemporary times this case study is used to explore ideas of continuity and tradition and how these shape and are shaped by architecture and the city Part 2 gathers theoretical tools from philosophy anthropology and performance studies to offer a framework for the appraisal of architecture whether engaged in festival or simply part of the background to everyday life as experience rather than form The final part presents historic and contemporary case studies to explain the theory in practice from Lord Leighton s House in London to Beit Beirut in Lebanon and from Salisbury s medieval Chapterhouse to the contemporary Australian Parliament building Written for architectural theorists historians and designers alike this book will allow the reader to assess architecture in a way that re addresses aspects of history often obscured by post enlightenment thinking and reveals an architecture rooted in cultural traditions better able to contribute to the diverse communities of the future
