Geography Pmemorandum Trial 2013:

The Geography of Injustice Barak Kushner, 2024-03-15 In The Geography of Injustice Barak Kushner argues that the war crimes tribunals in East Asia formed and cemented national divides that persist into the present day In 1946 the Allies convened the Tokyo Trial to prosecute Japanese wartime atrocities and Japan's empire At its conclusion one of the judges voiced dissent claiming that the justice found at Tokyo was only the sham employment of a legal process for the satisfaction of a thirst for revenge War crimes tribunals Kushner shows allow for the history of the defeated to be heard In contemporary East Asia a fierce battle between memory and history has consolidated political camps across this debate The Tokyo Trial courtroom as well as the thousands of other war crimes tribunals opened in about fifty venues across Asia were legal stages where prosecution and defense curated facts and evidence to craft their story about World War Two These narratives and counter narratives form the basis of postwar memory concerning Japan's imperial aims across the region The archival record and the interpretation of court testimony together shape a competing set of histories for public consumption The Geography of Injustice offers compelling evidence that despite the passage of seven decades since the end of the war East Asia is more divided than united by history

Terrorism on Trial Nicole Nguyen, 2023-09-26 A landmark sociological examination of terrorism prosecution in United States courts Rather than functioning as a final arbiter of justice U S domestic courts are increasingly seen as counterterrorism tools that can incapacitate terrorists maintain national security operations domestically and produce certain narratives of conflict Terrorism on Trial examines the contemporary role that these courts play in the global war on terror and their use as a weapon of war hunting criminalizing and punishing entire communities in the name of national security Nicole Nguyen advocates for a rethinking of popular understandings of political violence and its root causes encouraging readers to consider anti imperial abolitionist alternatives to the criminalization prosecution and incarceration of individuals marked as real or perceived terrorists She exposes how dominant academic discourses geographical imaginations and social processes have shaped terrorism prosecutions as well as how our fundamental misunderstanding of terrorism has led to punitive responses that do little to address the true sources of violence such as military interventions colonial occupations and tyrannical regimes Nguyen also explores how these criminal proceedings bear on the lives of defendants and families seeking to understand how legal processes unevenly criminalize and disempower communities of color A retheorization of terrorism as political violence Terrorism on Trial invites readers to carefully consider the role of power and politics in the making of armed resistance addressing the root causes of political violence with a goal of building toward a less violent and more liberatory world

Emptied Lands Alexandre Kedar, Ahmad Amara, Oren Yiftachel, 2018-02-27 Emptied Lands investigates the protracted legal planning and territorial conflict between the settler Israeli state and indigenous Bedouin citizens over traditional lands in southern Israel Palestine The authors place this dispute in historical legal geographical and international comparative perspectives providing the first legal geographic analysis of the dead Negev doctrine used by Israel to dispossess and forcefully displace Bedouin inhabitants in order to Judaize the region. The authors reveal that through manipulative use of Ottoman British and Israeli laws the state has constructed its own version of terra nullius. Yet the indigenous property and settlement system still functions creating an ongoing resistance to the Jewish state. Emptied Lands critically examines several key land claims, court rulings, planning policies and development strategies offering alternative local, regional and international routes for justice. The Betrayal Kim Christian Priemel, 2018-05-17

At the end of World War II the Allies faced a threefold challenge: how to punish perpetrators of appalling crimes for which the categories of genocide and crimes against humanity had to be coined; how to explain that these had been committed by Germany of all nations; and how to reform Germans. The Allied answer to this conundrum was the application of historical reasoning to legal procedure. In the thirteen Nuremberg trials held between 1945 and 1949 and in corresponding cases elsewhere a concerted effort was made to punish key perpetrators while at the same time providing a complex analysis of the Nazi state and German history. Building on a long debate about Germany's divergence from a presumed Western path of development, Allied prosecutors sketched a historical trajectory which had led Germany to betray the Western model. Historical reasoning both accounted for the moral breakdown of a civilised nation and rendered plausible arguments that this had indeed been a collective failure rather than one of a small criminal clique. The prosecutors therefore carefully laid out how institutions such as private enterprise, academic science, the military or bureaucracy which looked ostensibly similar to their opposite numbers in the Allied nations had been corrupted in Germany even before Hitler's rise to power. While the argument depending on individual protagonists, subject matters and contexts met with uneven success in court, it offered a final twist which was of obvious appeal in the Cold War: to come if Germany had lost its way, it could still be brought back into the Western fold. The first comprehensive study of the Nuremberg trials, The Betrayal thus also explores how history underpins transitional trials as we encounter them in today's courtrooms from Arusha to The Hague. The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places Wendy Pullan, Maximilian Sternberg, Lefkos Kyriacou, Craig Larkin, Michael Dumper, 2013-11-20 The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places investigates the role of architecture and urban identity in relation to the political economy of the city and its wider state context seen through the lens of the holy places. Reflecting the broad disciplinary backgrounds of the authors, this book provides perspectives from architecture, urbanism and politics and provides in-depth investigations of historical, ethnographic and policy-related case studies. The research is substantiated by fieldwork carried out in Jerusalem over the past ten years as part of the ESRC Large Grants project 'Conflict in Cities: By analysing new dynamics of radicalisation through land seizure, the politicisation of parklands and tourism, the strategic manipulation of archaeological and historical narratives and material culture, and through examination of general appropriation of Jerusalem's varied rituals, memories and symbolism for factional uses, the book reveals how possibilities of co-existence are seriously threatened in Jerusalem. Shedding new light on the key role played by everyday urban life and its spatial settings for any future political agreements about the city and its religious sites this book is a useful reference work for students and scholars of Middle East Studies Architecture Religion and Urban Studies International and Transnational Criminal Law , A Postcolonial Critique of the Linde et al. v. Arab Bank, PLC "Terrorism" Bank Cases Marouf Hasian, Jr.,2016-04-29 This book provides readers with a postcolonial reading of the case of Linde et al v Arab Bank PLC and argues that American courtrooms are being used by rhetors to tell Anglo American stories about Hamas the causes of the Second Intifada and the importance of drying up terrorist financing Cultures of Witnessing Emma

Lipton,2022-05-10 Like other compilations of medieval urban drama the plays that were performed in the streets of York on the Feast of Corpus Christi from the late fourteenth century until the third quarter of the sixteenth have most frequently been discussed in the context of the devotional cultures and practices of the later Middle Ages The pageants preoccupation with law and with witnessing in particular has received much less attention Emma Lipton observes yet the cycle of forty seven plays which together tell the story of human history from the Creation through the Last Judgment contains an extended sequence that stages the trials of Christ leading up to the Crucifixion and legal discourse features prominently elsewhere as well While the play collections associated with other cities also engage with legal concepts the York Plays devote an unusual amount of attention to the law Lipton contends It is no coincidence that the plays themselves are preserved alongside a wide range of legal records in the York Memorandum Books repositories of civic documents that were kept in the city's guildhall Engaging both theater and legal studies Lipton is concerned in particular with the interfaces in the York Plays between dramatic practice and legal concepts of witnessing In medieval English courts witnesses were defined as neighbors they spoke both to what they had seen and heard and also to common knowledge of events At the same time many legal theorists were concerned by how the temporal gap between initial experience and testimony might reshape the record of the past in light of the motives and emotions of individual witnesses and allied groups With chapters focusing on space speech affect and temporality Cultures of Witnessing considers how civic performance and the legal theory and practice of witnessing promoted a shared sense of urban citizenship and how this in turn provides a way to theorize late medieval religious drama whose players performed on the streets and neighborhoods in which they conducted their daily lives Envisioning a
