HP 48SX Scientific Expandable Calculator, 1990 Foundations of Logic and Mathematics Yves

Nievergelt, 2012-12-06 This modern introduction to the foundations of logic mathematics and computer science answers frequent questions that mysteriously remain mostly unanswered in other texts Why is the truth table for the logical implication so unintuitive Why are there no recipes to design proofs Where do these numerous mathematical rules come from What are the applications of formal logic and abstract mathematics What issues in logic mathematics and computer science still remain unresolved Answers to such questions must necessarily present both theory and significant applications which explains the length of the book The text first shows how real life provides some guidance for the selection of axioms for the basis of a logical system for instance Boolean classical intuitionistic or minimalistic logic From such axioms the text then derives detailed explanations of the elements of modern logic and mathematics set theory arithmetic number theory combinatorics probability and graph theory with applications to computer science The motivation for such detail and for the organization of the material lies in a continuous thread from logic and mathematics to their uses in everyday life MAA Notes, 1992 Consulting-specifying Engineer, 1993 Discovering Calculus with the HP-28 and the HP-48 Robert Thomas Smith, Roland B. Minton, 1992 This supplementary text for the standard calculus course focuses on how the HP 28S and the HP 48SX 2 graphing supercalculators will aid in improving students understanding of calculus The calculators are capable of rapid production of graphics and calculations so classes that have access to the machines will save valuable time on graphing and calculations With supercalculators such as the HP 28S and the HP 48SX students can focus on true Calculus concepts rather than on computational details Proceedings of the Third International Conference on Technology in Collegiate Mathematics John Grover Harvey, Franklin D.
