Unmaking Contact interrogates contact understood in Global North dance discourse as a shorthand for the movement discipline of contact improvisation CI and its characteristic shifting points of weight sharing between two or more bodies through physical touch by attending to power asymmetries that are foundational to this practice. By placing South Asian aesthetics bodies discourses and philosophies on touch at the heart of its interrogation through the lenses of caste ecology faith gender and sexuality author Royona Mitra argues for an intersectional intercultural and inter epistemic understanding of contact that may or may not involve touch. The book shifts and expands understandings of contact in dance making through intercultural epistemologies that examine notions of touch and contact. In this book the term contact signals both a shorthand for CI and a shift away from it to more expansive choreographic considerations. It becomes an apparatus for dismantling power regimes it is conjured as a catalyst to examine power in social relations it appears as a fulcrum of ecological relationality it arises as critical encounters full of generative and transformative potential and finally it manifests as community     The Saturday Evening Post, 1925     The Complete America's Test Kitchen TV Show Cookbook 2001-2024 America's Test Kitchen, 2023-10-03.
