This book sheds light on the array of transformative literacies in the Global South which English language teachers and educators seek to integrate within their pedagogical practices. In English language teaching (ELT) there is an increasing need for a shift away from dominant literacy thinking, knowledge, and practices that originate in the Global North. This collection brings together contemporary research and practice on how literacies are theorized, challenged, embedded, and enacted in ELT practice in the Global South. It showcases research that focuses on the intersections of multiple literacies and English language pedagogy and how these fuse with the social, cultural, historical, and political realities of contexts where English is a foreign second or additional language. The authors provide insightful examples of pedagogical research and practice that reinvigorate a wide range of literacies often invisible or silenced in both the North and South. These include multicultural literacy, critical environmental literacy, digital multimodal literacy, the interplay of visual literacy and local culture, multiple literacies in ELT, racializing practices, multiliteracies pedagogies for teacher agency and social justice. With a focus on the diverse contexts of South America and Africa, some chapters in this volume leverage their unique socio-cultural and socio-political contexts to foreground the literacies, experiences, and practices of students, teachers, and educators in ELT settings that contribute to improved language learning experiences.

Researching Interpretive Talk Around Literary Narrative Texts John Gordon, 2020-08-25. Drawing on a multidisciplinary approach integrating insights from conversation analysis, narrative analysis, and narratology, this book theorizes teaching around narrative prose in each level of education with a focus on a new framework of Pedagogic Literary Narration which emphasizes the practice of shared novel reading and the importance of the role of the teacher in mediating this practice. With insights taken from a comprehensive set of transcripts taken from actual classrooms, the volume focuses on the convention in native tongue literary study in which teachers and students read a novel shared over lessons combining periods of reading aloud with those of questioning and discussion In so doing Gordon seeks to extend existing methodologies from literary and social science research toward informing teaching practice in literary pedagogy and address the need for a theorization of literary pedagogy which considers the interrelationship between text in print and text through talk Transcripts are supported with comprehensive analyses to help further explicate the research methodology and provide guidance on implementing it in the classroom This book is a valuable resource for scholars in language and education literary studies narrative inquiry and education research
