Interracial Lovers in Revolutionary China D. E. Mungello, 2023-07-14 In the twentieth century China underwent a monumental dynastic change and was transformed from an outmoded monarchy into a modern communist state This century of revolutionary change was marked by political upheaval and social chaos It was a period in which Chinese began to go abroad to study and conduct business while foreigners came to China for economic opportunity and adventure In the process Chinese and foreigners began to meet and form romantic relationships These love affairs fengliu yunshi are notable because they coincided with the last phase of Western imperialism including its lingering racial prejudices and even laws against interracial sexual relationships Conversely in China there were periodic outbreaks of hostility and violence against foreigners This book explores the interracial relationships of twenty two people who transcended these obstacles to cross color lines and fall in love

Innovation Contested Benoît Godin, 2015-01-09 Innovation is everywhere In the world of goods technology but also in the world of words innovation is discussed in the scientific and technical literature but also in the social sciences and humanities Innovation is also a central idea in the popular imaginary in the media and in public policy Innovation has become the emblem of the modern society and a panacea for resolving many problems Today innovation is spontaneously understood as technological innovation because of its contribution to economic progress Yet for 2 500 years innovation had nothing to do with economics in a positive sense Innovation was pejorative and political It was a contested idea in philosophy religion politics and social affairs Innovation only got de contested in the last century This occurred gradually beginning after the French revolution Innovation shifted from a vice to a virtue Innovation became an instrument for achieving political and social goals In this book Beno t Godin lucidly examines the representations and meanings of innovation over time its diverse uses and the contexts in which the concept emerged and changed This history is organized around three periods or episteme the prohibition episteme the instrument episteme and the value episteme

Secularization and Religious Innovation in the North Atlantic World David Hempton, Hugh McLeod, 2017 In the early twenty first century it had become a cliché that there was a God Gap between a more religious United States and a more secular Europe The apparent religious differences between the United States and western Europe continue to be a focus of intense and sometimes bitter debate between three of the main schools in the sociology of religion According to the influential Secularization Thesis secularization has been an integral part of the processes of modernization in the Western world since around 1800 For proponents of this thesis the United States appears as an anomaly and they accordingly give considerable attention to explaining why it is different For other sociologists however the apparently high level of religiosity in the USA provides a major argument in their attempts to refute the Thesis Secularization and Religious Innovation in the North Atlantic World provides a systematic comparison between the religious histories of the United States and western European countries from the eighteenth to the late twentieth century noting parallels as well as divergences examining their causes and especially highlighting change over time This is achieved by a series of themes which seem especially relevant to this agenda and in each case the theme is considered by two scholars The volume examines whether American Christians have been more innovative and if so how far this explains the apparent God Gap It goes beyond the simple American European binary to ask what is American or European in the Christianity of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and in what ways national or regional differences outweigh these commonalities

Social Networks in the History of Innovation and Invention Francis C. Moon, 2013-11-19 This book integrates history of science and technology with modern social network theory Using examples from the history of machines as well as case studies from wireless radio and chaos theory the author challenges the genius model of invention Network analysis concepts are presented to demonstrate the societal nature of invention in areas such as steam power internal combustion engines early aviation air conditioning and more Using modern measures of network theory the author demonstrates that the social networks of invention from the 19th and early 20th centuries have similar characteristics to modern 21st C networks such as the World Wide Web The book provides evidence that exponential growth in technical innovation is linked to the growth of historical innovation networks
