Hale and Kipp

On the night of July 23, 1848, a man named Thomas Kipp was observing the night sky in Arizona through a telescope. He had already watched the sky with the telescope. Kipp noticed a faint glow that he had never seen before. He asked a friend who was with him to look at the new object. There wasn't too many known objects in space. Was the glow was not on the chart?

The day was night in New Mexico. How dark must darkness be to see the night sky through the telescope as he often did.

It was a very clear night. Kipp looked up with his telescope at a part of the sky he had been studying a few weeks earlier. Suddenly, he jumped in surprise. He had spotted something new. There? It was a faint, fuzzy glow. Kipp said that made a good sketch of what he saw. He believed he had just found a comet.

Kipp was shocked by the news. Like Kipp, he did not find the object on their charts. Kipp sent a message to a place in Massachusetts that knew all comets. He told the people at the center what he had seen.

Thomas Kipp also sent a message to the center in Massachusetts. The next morning, he heard back from the center. Kipp, like Kipp, had discovered a new comet.

Twelve hours after Kipp and Kipp had first seen the comet, it had a name: Comet Hale-Bopp.
