Geography Paper One November 2013 Memorandum

Kyla Tienhaara, Joanna Robinson

Geography Paper One November 2013 Memorandum:

The War Lawyers Craig Jones, 2020 Over the last 20 years the world's most advanced militaries have invited a small number of military legal professionals into the heart of their targeting operations spaces which had previously been exclusively for generals and commanders. These professionals trained and hired to give legal advice on an array of military operations have become known as war lawyers. The War Lawyers examines the laws of war as applied by military lawyers to aerial targeting operations carried out by the US military in Iraq and Afghanistan and the Israel military in Gaza. Drawing on interviews with military lawyers and others, this book explains why some lawyers became integrated in the chain of command whereby military targets are identified and attacked whether by manned aircraft, drones and/or ground forces and with what results. This book shows just how important law and military lawyers have become in the conduct of contemporary warfare and how it is understood. Jones argues that circulations of law and policy between the US and Israel have bolstered targeting practices considered legally questionable, contending that the involvement of war lawyers in targeting operations enables legitimises and sometimes even extends military violence.

Tigray: The Panarchy of War Mirjam Van Reisen, Munyaradzi Mawere, 2024-11-17 The Tigray War 2020-2022 left a deep and lasting impact not only on Tigray but also on the wider Horn of Africa. In this second book in a three-part series, the authors examine the devastation wrought by the war on Tigray's cultural heritage and identity. The deliberate destruction of ancient cultural sites and the assault on the Tigrayan people's identity have fueled a desire for greater autonomy among the people of Tigray to protect their future. Through the lens of Panarchy, this book explores how the war's effects extend far beyond Tigray, reshaping the dynamics of the entire region. Crucially, it uncovers Eritrea's secret role in the conflict, which was deliberately concealed by Ethiopia. Eritrean forces were implicated not only in atrocities but also in the use of particularly cruel and inhumane sexual violence intended to break the spirit of the Tigrayan people and erase Tigray as an ethnic and cultural group. This ethnographic research, conducted in collaboration with universities inside and outside Ethiopia, reveals the profound transformations caused by the war with consequences that will reverberate for years to come. It sheds light on the war's long-term impact and highlights the urgent need for international attention on the challenges faced by Tigray and the wider region.

The Changing Practices of International Law Tanja Aalberts, Thomas Gammeltoft-Hansen, 2018-04-05 With more than 158 000 treaties and some 125 judicial organisations, international law has become an inescapable factor in world politics since the Second World War. In recent years, however, international law has also been increasingly challenged as states are voicing concerns that it is producing unintended effects and accuse international courts of judicial activism. This book provides an important corrective to existing theories of international law by focusing on how states respond to increased legalisation and rely on legal expertise to manoeuvre within and against international law. Through a number of case studies covering a wide range of topical issues such as surveillance, environmental regulation, migration and foreign investments, the book argues that the expansion and increased institutionalisation of international law itself have created the structural premise for this type of politics of international law More international law paradoxically increases states political room of manoeuvre in world society

The Root of All Evil Cormac Moore, 2025-05-06 In May 1922 James Craig described the Boundary Commission as the root of all evil for Ulster unionists Conversely it ultimately bolstered the unionist cause leaving the border unchanged and abandoning swathes of Northern nationalists who had assumed that large tracts of land would be transferred to the Free State Offered to Sinn Féin plenipotentiaries during the 1921 Treaty negotiations the Boundary Commission was viewed as a major concession by David Lloyd George but the vague wording of the clause agreed to by the Irish delegation would prove disastrous Delayed by the civil war and Unionist non cooperation the Boundary Commission finally convened in 1924 hampered from the get go by Sinn Féin's naivety the intransigence of Ulster unionists and the duplicity of successive British governments It disbanded less than a year later without an inch gained for the twenty six counties After 1925 the nationalist community in the North had to accept that whether they liked it or not that they were citizens of Northern Ireland their trust in both British and Free State governments irrevocably damaged One hundred years on Cormac Moore illuminates the fascinating and infuriating story behind the Boundary Commission's momentous failure

Routledge Handbook on the Green New Deal Kyla Tienhaara, Joanna Robinson, 2022-08-26 In recent years the Green New Deal has moved from relative obscurity to front and centre of policy discussions and public debates about how to respond to the climate crisis It has been credited with radically changing the nature of the conversation on climate change and with re energizing the environmental movement at a critical time All Green New Deal proposals share an emphasis on the need for governments rather than markets to lead the energy transition However they differ in other respects This Handbook analyses the fundamentals underlying all Green New Deals as well as exploring national and regional variations It is divided into three parts The first part examines the political economy of the Green New Deal focussing not just on how proposals will be costed but also on opportunities for a fundamental transformation of both national economies and the global economic system The second part explores issues of justice which are central to many Green New Deal proposals including Indigenous rights racial and gender equity and justice for the Global South In the third part authors detail case studies of Green New Deal proposals and plans at the local national and regional level This book will be an invaluable research and reference volume for students and scholars in economics politics sociology geography and environmental studies It should also be of interest to those

White, 2016-03-31 Memorializing Pearl Harbor examines the challenge of representing history at the site of the attack that brought America into World War II Analyzing moments in which history is re presented in commemorative events documentary films museum design and educational programming Geoffrey M White shows that the memorial to the Pearl Harbor bombing is not a fixed or singular institution Rather it has become a site in which many histories are performed validated and challenged In addition to valorizing military service and sacrifice the memorial has become a place where Japanese veterans have come to seek recognition and reconciliation where Japanese Americans have sought to correct narratives of racial mistrust and where Native Hawaiians have challenged their ongoing erasure from their own land Drawing on extended ethnographic fieldwork White maps these struggles onto larger controversies about public history museum practices and national memory
