Kosovo Progress Report 2008:

Creating Kosovo Elton Skendaj, 2014-12-18 In shaping the institutions of a new country what interventions from international actors lead to success and failure Elton Skendaj's investigation into Kosovo based on national survey data interviews and focus groups conducted over ten months of fieldwork leads to some surprising answers Creating Kosovo highlights efforts to build the police force the central government courts and a customs service Skendaj finds that central administration and the courts which had been developed under local authority succumbed to cronyism and corruption challenging the premise that local ownership leads to more effective state bureaucracies The police force and customs service directly managed by international actors were held to a meritocratic standard fulfilling their missions and winning public respect On the other hand local participation and contestation supported democratic institutions When international actors supported the demobilization of popular movements they undermined the ability of the public to hold elected officials accountable Landmine Monitor 2009 , The International Community and Statebuilding Patrice McMahon, Jon Western, 2012-02-07 This book brings together policymakers and academics to analyse the international community's performance in post war statebuilding projects In the past twenty years statebuilding has emerged as a centerpiece of international efforts to stabilize violent conflicts From the Balkans to Iraq to Afghanistan it has become widely accepted that statebuilding defined as the development of transparent and accountable political institutions stable and sustainable economic structures professional public administrations and civilian controlled security services is essential to the long term stability of post conflict settlements The International Community and Statebuilding brings together senior level policymakers and academics in order to analyse the international community's performance in post war statebuilding projects Filling an important gap in the existing body of work on this topic the contributors explore how international state builders have attempted to negotiate the intersections of multilateralism competing strategic priorities and agendas organizational complexity and domestic politics This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding peacebuilding war and conflict studies and International Relations in general Kosovo and Serbia Leandrit I. Mehmeti, Branislav Radeljic, 2017-06-17 Azan on the Moon is an in depth anthropological study of people's lives along the Pamir Highway in eastern Tajikistan Constructed in the 1930s in rugged high altitude terrain the road fundamentally altered the material and social fabric of this former Soviet outpost on the border with Afghanistan and China The highway initially brought sentiments of disconnection and hardship followed by Soviet modernization and development and ultimately a sense of distinction from bordering countries and urban centers that continues to this day Based on extensive fieldwork and through an analysis of construction mobility technology media development Islam and the state Till Mostowlansky shows how ideas of modernity are both challenged and reinforced in contemporary Tajikistan In the wake of China's rise in Central Asia people along the Pamir Highway strive to reconcile a modern future with a modern past Weaving together the road a population and a region Azan

on the Moon presents a rich ethnography of global connections

Donors, technical assistance and public administration in Kosovo Mary Venner, 2016-09-01 This book looks beyond the apparently united and generally self congratulatory statements of The United Nations other major multinational organisations and many large bilateral aid donors to examine what actually happened when they tried to work together in restoring stability and establishing governance in the territory

Peace Operations and Organized Crime James Cockayne, Adam Lupel, 2011-05-10 Peace operations are increasingly on the front line in the international community's fight against organized crime this book explores how in some cases peace operations and organized crime are clear enemies while in others they may become tacit allies The threat posed by organized crime to international and human security has become a matter of considerable strategic concern for national and international decision makers so it is somewhat surprising how little thought has been devoted to addressing the complex relationship between organized crime and peace operations This volume addresses this gap questioning the emerging orthodoxy that portrays organized crime as an external threat to the liberal peace championed by western and allied states and delivered through peace operations Based upon a series of case studies it concludes that organized crime is both a potential enemy and a potential ally of peace operations and it argues for the need to distinguish between strategies to contain organized crime and strategies to transform the political economies in which it flourishes The editors argue for the development of intelligent transnational and transitional law enforcement that can make the most of organized crime as a potential ally for transforming political economies while at the same time containing the threat it presents as an enemy to building effective and responsible states The book will be of great interest to students of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies organised crime Security Studies and IR in general

Europe and the Post-Yugoslav Space Branislav

Radeljic, 2016-04-22 Charting the path from intervention to integration Europe and the Post Yugoslav Space examines the role of Europeanization on the development of the countries of the former Yugoslavia Slovenia Croatia Macedonia Montenegro Serbia Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo may have a shared history but their experiences views and attitudes to European integration vary dramatically Opinion within each state is often equally as keenly divided as to the benefits of active membership The debate within each country and their comparative differences in approach provide fascinating case studies on the importance and relevance of the EU and the effectiveness of Europeanization A wide range of contributors with significant experience gained within the EU as well as their country of origin use their expert understanding of the language and cultures of the countries concerned to provide detailed and rich insights into the troubled history and potential of the post Yugoslav space
