Skills for the Labor Market in the Philippines Emanuela Di Gropello, Hong Tan, Prateek Tandon, 2010-09-24 The Filipino economy has experienced overall growth over the last 20 years but the growth of the manufacturing sector has been sluggish and the country has lost innovation capacity Regaining momentum will depend on many factors but skills have a key role to play in supporting the growing service sector improving the competitiveness of the manufacturing sector and enhancing the long term ability of the country to innovate and adapt and assimilate new technologies Skills for the Labor Market in the Philippines analyzes the functional skills with which workers need to be equipped to be employable and support firms competitiveness and productivity and evaluates the role of the education and training system in providing these skills Based on an innovative survey of employers this book is the most comprehensive attempt thus far to review the skills that matter for the labor market The book reveals that a dramatic increase in educational attainment occurred in just under two decades in the Philippines However in light of the growing demand for skills the authors also make it clear that there are indications of emerging skills gaps suggesting that skills are becoming a constraining factor for economic growth The authors flesh out several policy implications which should provide a valuable contribution to improving the country's education and training system The book is primarily intended for the policy makers and researchers who shape the delivery of education and training in the Philippines and other middle income countries Annual Report to Congress U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 1977 Employment Regulations Through the Eyes of Employers Gaëlle Pierre, 2004 Pierre and Scarpetta present evidence on how employers perceive labor regulations and react when these are perceived to constrain the operation of their firm They draw from harmonized surveys of up to 17 000 firms around the world and compare employers responses with actual labor legislation The authors find that employers concerns about labor regulations are closely matched by the relative stringency of de jure labor laws Countries that have from an international perspective tight labor regulations tend to have higher proportions of employers reporting these regulations as severe constraints Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare United States.
