Methods of Applied Mathematics Francis B. Hildebrand, 2012-06-08 This invaluable book offers engineers and physicists working knowledge of a number of mathematical facts and techniques not commonly treated in courses in advanced calculus but nevertheless extremely useful when applied to typical problems in many different fields It deals principally with linear algebraic equations quadratic and Hermitian forms operations with vectors and matrices the calculus of variations and the formulations and theory of linear integral equations Annotated problems and exercises accompany each chapter

The Solution of Compressible Laminar Boundary Layer Problems by a Finite Difference Method Donald Charles Baxter, 1957

Field Solutions on Computers Stanley Humphries Jr., 2020-09-23 Field Solutions on Computers covers a broad range of practical applications involving electric and magnetic fields The text emphasizes finite element techniques to solve real world problems in research and industry After introducing numerical methods with a thorough treatment of electrostatics the book moves in a structured sequence to advanced topics These include magnetostatics with non linear materials permanent magnet devices RF heating eddy current analysis electromagnetic pulses microwave structures and wave scattering The mathematical derivations are supplemented with chapter exercises and comprehensive reviews of the underlying physics The book also covers essential supporting techniques such as mesh generation interpolation sparse matrix inversions and advanced plotting routines

Fundamental Solutions for Differential Operators and Applications Prem Kythe, 2012-12-06 Overview Many problems in mathematical physics and applied mathematics can be reduced to boundary value problems for differential and in some cases into differential equations These equations are solved by using methods from the theory of ordinary and partial differential equations variational calculus operational calculus function theory functional analysis probability theory numerical analysis and computational techniques Mathematical models of quantum physics require new areas such as generalized functions theory of distributions functions of several complex variables and topological and algebraic methods The main purpose of this book is to provide a self contained and systematic introduction to just one aspect of analysis which deals with the theory of fundamental solutions for differential operators and their applications to boundary value problems of mathematical physics applied mathematics and engineering with the related applicable and computational features The subject matter of this book has its own deep rooted theoretical importance since it is related to Green's functions which are associated with most boundary value problems The application of fundamental solutions to a recently developed area of boundary element methods has provided a distinct advantage in that an integral equation representation of a boundary value problem is often more easily solved by numerical methods than a differential equation with specified boundary and initial conditions This situation makes the subject more attractive to those whose interest is primarily in numerical methods

Mathematical Methods in Physics and Engineering John W. Dettman, 1988-01-01 Algebraically based approach to vectors mapping diffraction and other topics in applied math also covers generalized functions analytic function theory and more Additional topics include sections on linear algebra Hilbert spaces calculus of variations boundary value problems integral equations analytic function theory and integral transform methods Exercises 1969 edition

Matrix-geometric Solutions in Stochastic Models Marcel F. Neuts, 1994-01-01 Topics include matrix geometric invariant vectors buffer models queues in a random environment and more

Theory of Difference Equations Numerical Methods and Applications by V Lakshmikantham and D Trigiante Lakshmikantham, D. Trigiante, 1988-05-01 In this book we study theoretical and practical aspects of computing methods for mathematical modelling of nonlinear systems A number of computing techniques are considered such as methods of operator approximation with any given accuracy operator interpolation techniques including a non Lagrange interpolation methods of system representation subject to constraints associated with concepts of causality memory and stationarity methods of system representation with an accuracy that is the best within a given class of models methods of covariance matrix estimation methods for low rank matrix approximations hybrid methods based on a combination of iterative procedures and best operator approximation and methods for information compression and filtering under condition that a filter model should satisfy restrictions associated with causality and different types of memory As a result the book represents a blend of new methods in general computational analysis and specific but also generic techniques for study of systems theory and its particular branches such as optimal filtering and information compression Best operator approximation Non Lagrange interpolation Generic Karhunen Loeve transform Generalised low rank matrix approximation Optimal data compression Optimal nonlinear filtering
