- 1. Identify the variables (independent, dependent, control, confounding) in the study.
 - Independent variable: the variable that is manipulated or varied by the researcher.
 - Dependent variable: the variable that is measured or observed.
 - Control variable: the variable that is held constant to prevent it from influencing the results.
 - Confounding variable: the variable that is not controlled for and may influence the results.
- 2. Formulate a hypothesis (a statement about the expected relationship between variables).
 - Directional hypothesis: predicts the direction of the relationship (e.g., "increased study time leads to higher scores").
 - Non-directional hypothesis: predicts a relationship but not the direction (e.g., "study time is related to scores").
- 3. Design the study (choose a research design, select participants, control confounding variables).
 - Research design: the overall plan for the study (e.g., experimental, correlational, quasi-experimental).
 - Participants: the individuals who take part in the study.
 - Control confounding variables: use random assignment, control groups, blinding, etc.
- 4. Collect and analyze data (gather data, use statistical tests to analyze the data).
 - Data collection: the process of gathering information from participants.
 - Data analysis: the process of using statistical tests to analyze the data.
- 5. Interpret the results (draw conclusions, discuss limitations, suggest future research).
 - Interpretation: the process of making sense of the results.
 - Conclusions: the findings of the study.
 - Limitations: the weaknesses of the study.
 - Future research: suggestions for further investigation.

Abstract

The second component of our cost-reduction plan is to ensure that customers receive timely and accurate free pricing. Please call us today if you are requesting online content updates. Additionally, we will encourage dealers to place us on your website. We have created a special report of our current dealer contacts, which is available in our pricing system. We will update this system later in 2003 and will have it on a toll-free basis at the dealership. It is especially important to our dealers as they are strongly encouraged to give our customers our toll-free number (800-345-2222). As a result of strategic financial and market analysis, we are planning to implement a new pricing system in the second half of 2003. We will also be reviewing the pricing of the standard tractor.
