Geographies of Health and Development Rachel Bezner Kerr, Isaac Luginaah, 2016-03-03 The geographies of health and development is an emerging sub discipline tying in with many of the conceptual theoretical and practical components of other disciplines working in health health care economics and international development Spatially and theoretically grounded in geography this collection offers a fresh perspective on the dialectic relationships between health and development Health problems in a developing context take on much higher rates of prevalence as a result of the varied cultural structural and economic vulnerabilities of the people they impact This book begins by exploring some of the circumstances surrounding the distinctive health inequities currently facing many developing countries including malaria maternal mortality and HIV AIDS This is followed by a discussion of how matters of physical access and human resource issues and perhaps most importantly the challenges of financing together shape the access and utilization of health care Examining how the environment interacts to influence the health of the people that live there the next section includes discussion around challenges of food in security and the importance of clean and uncontaminated water for health Finally the book explores the influence of globalization on health specifically within the urban environment against the backdrop of global health policy

Emancipatory Feminism in the Time of Covid-19 Hawzhin Azeez, Asanda Benya, Christine Bischoff, Jane Cherry, Jacklyn Cock, Jane Mbithi-Dikgol, Samantha Hargreaves, Courtney Morgan, Inge Konik, Sonia Phalatse, Busi Sibeko, Dineo Skosana, 2023-07 The Covid pandemic threw into stark relief the multi dimensional threats created by neoliberal capitalism Government measures to alleviate the crisis were largely inadequate leaving women in particular working class women to carry the increased burden of care work while at the same time placing themselves in direct risk as frontline workers to carry the increased burden of care work while at the same time placing themselves in direct risk as frontline workers Emancipatory Feminism in the time of Covid 19 The seventh volume in the Democratic Marxism series explores how many subaltern women working class peasant and indigenous Challenge hegemonic neoliberal feminism through their resistance to ordinary capitalist practices and ecological extractivism Contributors cover womens responses in a wide range of contexts from women leading the defence of Rojava the Kurdish region of Syria to approaches to anti capitalist ecology and building food secure pathways in communities across Africa to championing climate justice in mining affected communities and transforming gender divisions in mining labour practices in South Africa To contesting macro economic policies affecting the working conditions of nurses Their practices demonstrate a feminist understanding of the current systemic crises of capitalism and patriarchal oppression What is offered in this collection is a subaltern women s grassroots resistance focused on advancing and enabling solidarity based political projects deepening democracy building capacities and alliances to advance new feminist alternatives

Reviews in Vaccination Programmes Chiara de Waure, Maarten Jacobus Postma, 2025-08-19 Infectious diseases continue to pose significant global health threats highlighting the crucial role of vaccination in safeguarding public health Vaccination has been one of the most successful public health interventions in history leading to the eradication or significant reduction of many life threatening diseases Vaccinations are provided within programmes that vary between and within countries and also in the light of the different organization of healthcare systems As new infectious agents emerge and existing ones evolve it becomes imperative to continually review monitor and update vaccination programmes to ensure their relevance and success In order to do so several aspects should be considered concerning not only vaccines properties but also the burden and relevance of diseases organizational aspects public response and sustainability This Research Topic aims to collect review articles on the latest developments in vaccination policies and strategies focusing on how they were informed developed implemented and monitored and on their contribution to population health and well being

Policy and Politics for Nurses and Other Health Professionals: Advocacy and Action Donna M. Nickitas, Donna J. Middaugh, Veronica Feeg, 2018-08-22 Policy and Politics for Nurses and Other Health Professionals Third Edition focuses on the idea that all healthcare providers require a fundamental understanding of the healthcare system including but not limited to knowledge required to practice their discipline

The Report: South Africa 2012, 2012 Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways

Care of Older Persons Mala Kapur Shankardass, 2024-10-23 This book explores the implications and significant ethical social economic and health challenges that an ageing world population presents It provides valuable insights on concerns related to providing organizing planning and managing care for older persons in both formal and informal settings As the number of older persons increases rapidly around the globe caring for them is a very important aspect of all ageing and aged societies While in most countries the care of older persons is provided informally by family members the changing social scene family structures and work and employment patterns are leading many nations to create provisions for formal care through institutions or paid services of caregivers This book offers perspectives on formal and informal care from countries such as Japan the Netherlands the USA India South Africa and Poland among others The essays in this book underline a rights based approach and focus on ethical social economic health and legal aspects of care as they pertain to the universal phenomena of ageing as well as the specific demographic and epidemiological realities of the selected countries They discuss concerns such as long term care provisions catering to the needs of people affected by dementia providing residential care taking the needs of family care providers into account the growing requirement for paid care workers and channelizing training of both skilled and semi skilled care providers to suit the needs of older people This volume would be of interest to scholars and those working in the fields of sociology health studies age and ageing psychology social work medical sciences nursing and public policy It will also be useful to NGO sector workers administrators as well as grassroots workers involved with the care of older persons
