Gauteng Province District Paper November 2013 Geography Paper 1:

The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa. It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South. All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa. These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South.

Social Media for Government Services Surya Nepal, Cécile Paris, Dimitrios Georgakopoulos, 2015-12-31 This book highlights state of the art research development and implementation efforts concerning social media in government services bringing together researchers and practitioners in a number of case studies. It elucidates a number of significant challenges associated with social media specific to government services such as benefits and methods of assessing usability and suitability of tools technologies and platforms governance policies and frameworks opportunities for new services integrating social media with organisational business processes and specific case studies. The book also highlights the range of uses and applications of social media in the government domain at both local and federal levels. As such it offers a valuable resource for a broad readership including academic researchers practitioners in the IT industry developers and government policy and decision makers.

Making Public in a Privatized World David A. McDonald, 2016-02-15 How do we provide effective public services in a deeply neoliberal world? In the wake of the widespread failure of privatisation efforts societies in the global south are increasingly seeking progressive ways of recreating the public sector. With contributors ranging from cutting edge scholars to activists working in health water and energy provision and with case studies covering a broad spectrum of localities and actors Making Public in a Privatized World uncovers the radically different ways in which public services are being reshaped from the grassroots up. From communities holding the state accountable for public health in rural Guatemala to waste pickers in India and decentralized solar electricity initiatives in Africa the essays in this collection offer probing insights into the complex ways in which people are building genuine alternatives to privatization while also illustrating the challenges which communities face in creating public services which are not subordinated to the logic of the market or to the monolithic state entities of the past.

Urban Geography in South Africa Ruth Massey, Ashley Gunter, 2019-08-17 This book embraces South Africa and its place in the Global South providing a succinct theoretical and empirical analysis and discussion of urban issues in the country. There have been sporadic calls from the Urban Geography community for the development of an overarching and comprehensive text that explores contemporary processes and practices taking place in urban South Africa and more widely the Global South. This is an edited collection of chapters by leading urban theorists and practitioners working on various themes within urban South Africa and serves as a base for scholars and students interested in urban perspectives from countries in the Global South

Historical spatial change in the Gauteng City-Region Brian Mubiwa, ,Harold Annegarn,2013-03-29 The mission of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO is to help illuminate trends and dynamics shaping the region of towns and cities in and around Gauteng and also enhance understanding of the idea of the Gauteng City Region GCR as a project a different way of thinking about and governing this space While much of the data collection and analysis work of the GCRO is focused on the present we also consider the city region s past and its possible futures A 2030 National Development Plan crafted by the National Planning Commission has recently been adopted In addition the Gauteng Provincial Government working with municipal partners and business civil society and labour stakeholders is drafting a G2055 long term development plan As our society looks forward to what sort of country and region we need to become it is also important to look backward Understanding the past gives us insights into how we have come to be where we are now and so in turn what paths we should tread into the future This Occasional Paper is one of two that GCRO has commissioned specifically to deepen our understanding of the past of the GCR Both focus on aspects of the region s spatial past and ought to be read together This paper by Brian Mubiwa and Harold Annegarn explores the historical spatial evolution of the GCR It examines key spatial changes that have shaped the region over a century and provides a remarkable picture based on satellite imagery of regional spatial growth in the last two decades The companion paper by Alan Mabin asks the different but related question of how the idea of a city region found expression in various statutory planning frameworks over the course of the last century and how embryonic cityregion concepts influenced spatial decisions and developments

Governing Complex City-Regions in the Twenty-First Century Philip Harrison,2023-11-01 Explores the challenges of large complex institutionally fragmented and dynamic city regions across the BRICS countries and the emergence of formal and informal governance arrangements

Governance and the postcolony David Everatt,2019-08-01 Civil society NGOs governments and multilateral institutions all repeatedly call for improved or good governance yet they seem to speak past one another Governance is in danger of losing all meaning precisely because it means many things to different people in varied locations This is especially true in sub Saharan Africa Here the postcolony takes many forms reflecting the imperial project with painful accuracy Offering a set of multidisciplinary analyses of governance in different sectors crisis management water food security universities in different locales across sub Saharan Africa and from different theoretical approaches network to adversarial network governance this volume makes a useful addition to the growing debates on how to govern It steers away from offering a correct definition of governance or from promoting a particular position on postcoloniality It gives no neat conclusion but invites readers to draw their own conclusions based on these differing approaches to and analyses of governance in the postcolony As a robust critical assessment of power and accountability in the sub Saharan context Governance and the Postcolony Views from Africa brings together topical case studies that will be a valuable resource for those working in the field of African international relations public policy public management and administration

The Promise of Planning Philip Harrison, Alison Todes, 2024-07-10

The Promise of Planning explores the experience of planning internationally since the global financial crisis focusing on South Africa. The book is a response to a decade plus in which state led planning has re-emerged as a putative means for achieving developmental goals as indicated in global initiatives such as the New Urban Agenda and where planning in South Africa has consolidated in terms of its legal and policy basis. However, the return of planning is happening in an inauspicious context with economic fragilities, technological shifts, political populism, institutional complexities, and more threatening to upturn the new promise of planning. The book provides a careful analytical account of planning in South Africa and how and why its promises have been difficult to achieve. Building on the authors' previous book Planning and Transformation, the book sheds light on planning as an increasingly complex and diverse governmental practice within a perpetually changing world. It can be used as a resource for planners who must make good on the new promise of planning while navigating the risks and threats of the contemporary world as well as students and faculty interested in international planning debates and the South African case.
