High-Performance Computing in Finance M. A. H. Dempster,Juho Kannianen,John Keane,Erik Vynckier,2018-02-21 High Performance Computing HPC delivers higher computational performance to solve problems in science engineering and finance There are various HPC resources available for different needs ranging from cloud computing that can be used without much expertise and expense to more tailored hardware such as Field Programmable Gate Arrays FPGAs or D Wave s quantum computer systems High Performance Computing in Finance is the first book that provides a state of the art

introduction to HPC for finance capturing both academically and practically relevant problems Whole School Approaches to Sustainability Arjen E.J. Wals, Birgitte Bjønness, Astrid Sinnes, Ingrid Eikeland, 2024-06-22 In response to urgent global sustainability challenges Education for Sustainable Development ESD and Global Citizenship Education have been prioritized in the United Nations Agenda 2030 under SDG 4 7 There is a growing awareness that treating concepts such as global citizenship sustainable development climate urgency and health and well being as separate subjects or topics to be added to a curriculum is ineffective as they are highly interconnected Additionally this approach is problematic as schools already have an overcrowded curriculum This edited volume brings together a range of scholars and reflective practitioners from across the globe who are investigating and enacting a whole school approach WSA in education for sustainability While the WSA and related approaches such as those advocated by EcoSchools are becoming more popular there is a lack of understanding of their underlying principles and the different manifestations in diverging socio cultural contexts at different educational levels This collection of chapters provides a deeper understanding of the WSA while also addressing its effectiveness possibilities for upscaling professional development needs for WSA practitioners interlinkages with more conventional curriculum requirements expectations of students and parents and more This is an open access book

Optical and Electrochemical Biosensing Junjie Zhu, Renyun Zhang, Tingting Zheng, Cheng Ma, 2022-09-27 The transduction of unreadable chemical biological components to readable optical or electrochemical signals utilizing different biosensing technologies is one of the important pathways of understanding the principles of nature To achieve this ambitious goal many biosensors have been developed to obtain useful information from complex systems e g cells tissues and humans ever since the first glucose biosensor was invented in 1967 Nowadays biosensors are spread all over every branch of frontier science ranging from fundamental measurement science to advanced artificial intelligence technology Although many transduction technologies are available so far optical and electronic signals are still two of the most commonly used techniques as the detectable outputs for biosensors Taking advantage of the development of additive manufacturing techniques such as 3D printing and the improved understanding of the biomolecules optical and electrochemical biosensing technologies have also been developed on their sensitivity selectivity and speed In view of the fast development in the area we propose a Research Topic focused on the recent development of optical and electrochemical biosensing The topics of the Research Topic cover various optical and electrochemical biosensors which potentially promote the revolution of modern measurement techniques Notably this issue will not only cover the topics in individually used optical or electrochemical biosensors but also receive interconnection techniques between optical and electrochemical signals We welcome submissions in the following themes but not limited to Fundamental studies of the optical and electrochemical biosensing Optical biosensing techniques Electrochemical biosensing techniques Combined optical and electrochemical biosensors Commercializing of the optical and electrochemical biosensors In vivo and in vitro optical and electrochemical biosensing Impact of face covering on
