Education at UCL Institute of Education London UK Push Back Judith Large, 2016-12-15 In 2009 after decades of conflict the Sri Lankan government proclaimed the decisive defeat of the Liberation Tamil Tigers of Elam Subsequently the state proved resistant to attempts by the UN and other international bodies to promote post war reconciliation or reform In this incisive new work Judith Large investigates the ways in which the Rajapaksa government was able to subvert international diplomatic efforts as well as exploring the wider context of rising Sinhalese nationalism the attendant growth of discrimination against minorities and efforts by both the diaspora and citizens within Sri Lanka to work towards a positive peace Push Back is vital reading not only for those interested in Sri Lanka but also for those concerned about the wider implications of the conflict for human rights peace making and geopolitics Insight Turkey 2015 - Fall 2015 (Vol. 17, No. 4) , Last year was the year of elections in Turkey with two parliamentary elections and months long electoral campaigns that dominated the political agenda of the country The parliamentary elections of June 7 2015 brought an end to the AK Party's 12 year long era of parliamentary majority and single party government in Turkey Nevertheless the endeavors to form a coalition government could not be concluded successfully and another election appeared on the horizon The country was ruled by an AK Party led interim government and the elections were repeated five months later on November 1 2015 While close in time the two elections were quite distant with regard to the political contexts in which they were carried out and in their respective results The November elections witnessed a comeback for the AK Party which increased its votes by over 9 points with the addition of five million new votes in the ballot box The End of Development Andrew Brooks, 2017-05-15 Why did some countries grow rich while others remained poor Human history unfolded differently across the globe The world is separated into places of poverty and prosperity Tracing the long arc of human history from hunter gatherer societies to the early twenty first century in an argument grounded in a deep understanding of geography Andrew Brooks rejects popular explanations for the divergence of nations This accessible and illuminating volume shows how the wealth of the West and poverty of the rest stem not from environmental factors or some unique European cultural social or technological qualities but from the expansion of colonialism and the rise of America Brooks puts the case that international inequality was moulded by capitalist development over the last 500 years After the Second World War international aid projects failed to close the gap between developed and developing nations and millions remain impoverished Rather than address the root causes of inequality overseas development assistance exacerbate the problems of an uneven world by imposing crippling debts and destructive neoliberal policies on poor countries But this flawed form of development is now coming to an end as the emerging economies of Asia and Africa begin to assert themselves on the world stage The End of Development provides a compelling account of how human history unfolded differently in varied regions of the world Brooks argues that we must now seize the opportunity afforded by today's changing economic geography to transform attitudes towards inequality and to develop radical new approaches to addressing global poverty as the alternative is to accept that impoverishment is somehow part of the natural order of things Deepening Neoliberalism, Austerity, and Crisis Julien Mercille,Enda Murphy,2015-07-07 From bank bailouts to austerity Europe s and Ireland s response to the economic crisis has been engineered specifically to shift the burden of paying for the crisis onto ordinary citizens while investors financiers bankers and the privileged are protected The authors expose the class based nature of Ireland s crisis resolution Global Energy Paul Ekins,Mike Bradshaw,Jim Watson,2015-09-17 Energy and access to energy are essential to human life civilisation and development A number of energy issues including energy security energy prices and the polluting emissions for energy use now have high prominence on global agendas of policy and diplomacy In addressing these and other global energy issues the purpose of this book is to lay out the broad global energy landscape exploring how these issues might develop in coming decades and the implications of such developments for energy policy There are great uncertainties which will be identified in respect of some of these issues but many of the defining characteristics of the landscape are clear and the energy policies of all countries will need to be broadly consistent with these if they are to be feasible and achieve their objectives The book therefore provides information about and analysis of energy and related resources and the technologies that have been and are being developed to exploit them that is essential to understanding how the global energy system is developing and how it might develop in the future But its main focus is the critical economic social political and cultural issues that will determine how energy systems will develop and which technologies are deployed why by whom and who will benefit from them The book has three Parts Part I sets out the current global context for energy system developments outlining the essential trends of global energy supply and demand and atmospheric emissions from the past and going forward and their driving forces Part II explores the options and choices covering both energy demand and energy supply facing national and international policymakers as they confront the challenges of the global context outlined in Part I Part III of the book brings together the discussion in Parts I and II with consideration of possible global energy and environmental futures and of the energy policy choices which will determine which future actually comes to pass Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliana Cicin-Sain,David Vanderzwaag,Miriam C. Balgos,2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world presents in depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean such as shipping fishing oil and gas development in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated precautionary and anticipatory Overall the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world

Intergenerational Mobilities Lesley Murray, Susan Robertson, 2016-10-04 Drawing from work on mobilities and geographies of the lifecourse this collection is concerned with the ways in which age as a relational concept is constructed and played out in mobile urban space With studies of ageing and mobility often focusing on discrete age groups most notably children and older people this study seeks to fill a gap in existing literature by exploring mobility in relation to the lifecourse and generation looking not only at the margins Whilst some generations are increasingly mobile others are less so and this disparity in mobility opportunity is relational as age is relational This book addresses gaps in knowledge in relational geographies of ageing whilst contributing to literature on mobility and transport in particular the burgeoning field of mobility in justice Here mobility is considered in its broadest sense for example in relation to the movement or lack of movement of bodies and to computer mediated intergenerational communications Through focusing on urban mobile spaces from very local spaces of medical care to global spaces of migration that are the context for intergenerational mobilities this collection explores these interdependencies and considers ways in which intergenerational mobilities are conceptualised and researched
