Geography Paper Memo June 2015 The Times:

Rethinking Warfare in the 21st Century Julian Chifu, Greg Simons, 2023-07-13 A critical and multifaceted analysis of the problems created by the politics and communicated representation of contemporary warfare The Drone Debate Avery Plaw, Matthew S. Fricker, Carlos Colon, 2015-12-24 The Drone Debate offers a thorough investigation of the where why how and when of the U S s use of UAVs Beginning with a historical overview of the use of drones in warfare it then addresses whether targeted killing operations are strategically wise whether they are permissible under international law and the related ethical issues It also looks at the political factors behind the use of drones including domestic and global attitudes toward their use and potential issues of proliferation and escalation Finally the use of drones by other countries such as Israel and China is examined Each chapter features a case study that highlights particular incidents and patterns of operation in specific regions including Yemen Somalia Pakistan and Libya and strike types signature strikes personality strikes etc Our Social World Jeanne H. Ballantine, Keith A. Roberts, Kathleen Odell Korgen, 2016-11-30 Inspire your students to develop their sociological imaginations in Our Social World Focused on deep learning rather than memorization this book encourages readers to analyze evaluate and apply information about the social world to see the connection between the world and personal events from a new perspective and to confront sociological issues on a day to day basis Organized around the Social World Model a conceptual framework used across chapters to see the complex links between various micro to macro levels of the social system students will develop the practice of using three levels of analysis and to view sociology as an integrated whole rather than a set of discrete subjects The Drone Memos Jameel Jaffer, 2010-01-12 A trenchant summation and analysis of the legal rationales behind the US drone policy of targeted killing of suspected terrorists including US citizens Publishers Weekly starred review In the long response to 9 11 the US government initiated a deeply controversial policy of targeted killing the extrajudicial execution of suspected terrorists and militants typically via drones A remarkable effort was made to legitimize this practice one that most human rights experts agree is illegal and that the United States has historically condemned In The Drone Memos civil rights lawyer Jameel Jaffer presents and assesses the legal memos and policy documents that enabled the Obama administration to put this program into action In a lucid and provocative introduction Jaffer who led the ACLU legal team that secured the release of many of the documents evaluates the drone memos in light of domestic and international law He connects the documents legal abstractions to the real world violence they allow and makes the case that we are trading core principles of democracy and human rights for the illusion of security A careful study of a secretive counterterrorism infrastructure capable of sustaining endless orderless war this book is profoundly necessary Katrina vanden Heuvel editor and publisher of The Nation On Bicycles Evan Friss, 2019-05-07 Subways and yellow taxis may be the icons of New York transportation but it is the bicycle that has the longest claim to New York s streets two hundred years and counting Never has it taken to the streets without controversy 1819 was the year of the city's first bicycle and also its first bicycle ban. Debates around the bicycle's place in city life have been so persistent not just because of its many uses (recreation, sport, transportation, business) but because of changing conceptions of who cyclists are. In On Bicycles, Evan Friss traces the colorful and fraught history of cycling in New York City. He uncovers the bicycle's place in the city over time, showing how it has served as a mirror of the city's changing social, economic, infrastructural, and cultural politics since it first appeared. It has been central as when horse-drawn carriages shared the road with bicycle lanes in the 1890s, peripheral when Robert Moses's car-centric vision made room for bicycles only as recreation and aggressively marginalized when Ed Koch's battle against bike messengers culminated in the short-lived 1987 Midtown Bike Ban. On Bicycles illuminates how the city as we know it today, veined with over a thousand miles of bicycle lanes, reflects a fitful journey powered and opposed by New York City's people and its politics.

The Life and World of Francis Rodd, Lord Rennell (1895-1978) Philip Boobbyer, 2021-01-20 This book is a biographical study of the geographer, explorer, and banker Francis Rodd, the second Lord Rennell of Rodd (1895-1978). Rodd's life is interesting for the way it connected the worlds of geography, international finance, politics, espionage, and wartime military administration. He was famous in the 1920s for his journeys to the Sahara and his study of the Tuareg People of the Veil (1926). A career in banking included a stint at the Bank of England before he became a Partner in the merchant bank Morgan Grenfell, where he remained for most of his working life (1933-1961). During the war, he worked for the Ministry of Economic Warfare (1939-40) before getting closely involved in the sphere of military government civil affairs. In 1942, he was War Office's Chief Political Officer in East Africa. He was then appointed head of the first Allied Military Government in occupied Europe, Chief Civil Affairs Officer of AMGOT. In civil affairs, he was drawn to the principles of indirect rule. A generalist in an age of growing specialisation, he was also a mixture of traditionalist and moderniser. A product of Eton and Balliol College, Oxford, and elevated to the peerage in 1941, he was well connected socially, and his life is a window onto British society at a time of great change.

Telling America's Story to the World Harilaos Stecopoulos, 2022-10-06 Telling America's Story to the World argues that state and state-affiliated cultural diplomacy contributed to the making of postwar US literature. Highlighting the role of liberal internationalism in US cultural outreach, Harilaos Stecopoulos contends that the state mainly sent authors like Ralph Ellison, Robert Frost, William Faulkner, Langston Hughes, and Maxine Hong Kingston overseas not just to demonstrate the achievements of US civilization but also to broadcast an American commitment to international cross-cultural connection. Those writers, cum ambassadors, may not have helped the state achieve its propaganda goals; indeed, this rarely proved the case, but they did find their assignments an opportunity to ponder the international meanings and possibilities of US literature. For many of those figures courting foreign publics inspired a reevaluation of the scope and form of their own literary projects. Testifying to the inadvertent yet integral role of cultural diplomacy in the worlding of US letters, works like The Mansion (1959), Life Studies (1959), Cultural Exchange (1961), 1967, Tripmaster Monkey (1989), and Three Days Before the Shooting (2010) reimagine US literature in a
