Powerful Geography Michael Solem, Richard G. Boehm, Joann Zadrozny, 2024-03-25 This book presents the evolution of the Powerful Geography approach to teaching and learning in the United States and how the approach can be adapted and implemented in other countries Powerful Geography acknowledges the remarkable diversity that exists in classrooms the wide ranging interests of modern students and the desire of these students to translate dynamic subject matter into useful information and concepts a process that is consistent with modern educational theory For Powerful Geography to work in secondary and postsecondary education teachers and university professors must adapt and teach geography as a critical training where individual students see opportunities to apply geography content skills and technology to real world problems that they care about This book challenges geography educators at all levels to strengthen their applied curriculum in order to help students prepare for jobs and careers in broad areas such as climate change migration environmental protection natural resources energy development and use transport planning supply chain logistics global trade national security and infrastructure Disciplinary Literacy and Explicit Vocabulary Teaching: A whole school approach to closing the attainment gap Kathrine Mortimore,2020-12-15 Firmly rooted in research evidence of what works within the classroom for our most disadvantaged students Disciplinary Literacy and Explicit Vocabulary Teaching offers teachers and school leaders practical ways in which those students who are behind in their literacy capabilities can make excellent progress Building on the work of Geoff Barton in his influential book Don't Call it Literacy Kathrine Mortimore outlines the unique literacy challenges posed by specific subject areas for those with weaker literacy skills and more importantly how these challenges can be addressed and overcome A student's GCSE results are vital in giving them the choices they deserve in order to go on to the next stage of their academic careers This book draws on the success stories of schools and subjects that have made significant improvements in the outcomes of the children they teach regardless of their starting points From the inevitable success of Michaela Community school to the gains made by the English department at Torquay Academy and the rapid reading improvements at Henley Bank this book draws on both whole school initiatives and subject specific strategies which have had proven success This book places a wide and balanced knowledge rich curriculum at the centre of any school improvement strategy designed to improve literacy and illustrates the role that all subjects must combine to play in building the vital background knowledge and vocabulary that young people need in order to read independently This curriculum must then be delivered using those teaching methods that have had the greatest impact on disadvantaged learners and this book sets out how the methodology of direct and explicit instruction can be adopted within each subject area Alongside this is a useful summary of staff development and inset which offers practical ways in which teachers adoption of these effective strategies can be facilitated There are also useful sections on creating a whole school dictionary of essential vocabulary creating a culture of reading and writing and also those key literacy barriers experienced by those students with some of the most common special educational needs Public health policy and health communication challenges in the COVID-19 pandemic and infodemic Zhiwen Hu,Chuhan Wu,Pier Luigi Sacco,2023-08-31 Simulations of Decision-Making as Active Learning Tools Peter Bursens,Vincent Donche,David Gijbels,Pieter Spooren,2018-03-05 This volume brings together both political and educational scientists While educational research literature has so far not systematically addressed the tool of simulations of decision making political scientists have hardly used insights from research on assessment or on motivation and interest of students Almost all political science publications on simulations merely discuss how to implement the tool in class and fall short of providing evidence of the effects on student outcomes such as increased interest and performance Combining the two disciplines is mutually enriching Political science benefits from state of the art educational science measuring and testing of the claims made by the proponents of simulations while educational sciences adds the systematic analysis of simulations of decision making to their list of empirical objects which also adds insights to the theories on the affective component of student learning It is the explicit aim of the volume to address how simulating decision making environments fosters learning Implications for research and practice regarding student learning are addressed in all chapters The Times Index ,2007 Indexes the Times and its supplements
