Lissitz, 2015-11-01 The Race To The Top RTTP federal education policy fostered a new generation of state tests This policy advocated adopting common core standards which set a higher level of learning targets for students in the US K 12 education These standards are intended to assess higher order thinking skills and prepare students ready for college and career In the meantime they are aligned with those for international assessments which keep US students abreast of their international peers

Furthermore the new generation of state tests requires the use of technology enhanced items to align student assessments with student learning environment Computer technology is indispensable to accomplish this goal Computer based tests related to common core standards are different from previous state computer based tests in two important aspects one is that the current version requires accurate assessment of students along all ability levels and the other is that it promotes the use of an efficient test delivery system essentially the use of computerized adaptive assessment in K 12 state testing programs In addition to providing summative information about student learning the new common core tests add formative assessment component in the whole assessment system to provide timely feedback to students and teachers during the process of student learning and teacher instruction As with its predecessor the new assessment policy also holds teachers and schools accountable for student learning With the requirements by the new federal education policy states formed two consortia Partnership for Assessment of Readiness for College and Careers PARCC and Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium SBAC to develop assessments in alignment with the new common core standards This book is based on the presentations made at the Thirteenth Annual Maryland Assessment Research Center's Conference on The Next Generation of Testing Common Core Standards Smarter Balanced PARCC and the Nationwide Testing Movement Experts from the consortia and nationwide overviewed the intention history and the current status of this nationwide testing movement Item development test design and transition from old state tests to the new consortia tests are discussed Test scoring and reporting are specially highlighted in the book The challenges related to standard setting for the new test especially in the CAT environment and linking performance standards from state tests with consortium tests were explored The issues of utilizing the consortium test results to evaluate students college and career readiness is another topic addressed in the book The last chapters address the critical issue of validity in the new generation of state testing programs Overall this book presents the latest status of the development of the two consortium assessment systems It addresses the most challenging issues related to the next generation of state testing programs including development of innovative items assessing higher order thinking skills scoring of such items standard setting and linkage with the old state specific standards and validity issues This edited book provides a very good source of information related to the consortium tests based on the common core standards

Reconceptualizing English Education in a Multilingual Society Isabel Pefianco Martin, 2018-03-01 This book brings together chapters that describe investigate and analyze the place of English in education in multilingual Philippines Unlike most studies on languages in education which take a neutral de contextualized stance this volume take a pluricentric view of the English language by positioning it in relation to its varieties as well as to other languages in the country Because of the changing realities of English in the Philippines traditional assumptions about the language as monolithic and unchanging as well as about how it should be taught and learned need to be revisited and re conceptualized The Scandal of Standardized Tests Joseph A. (ed.) Soares, 2020 This update to SAT Wars provides new evidence in the case against standardized college entry tests including the experiences of test optional colleges The Scandal of Standardized Tests sheds significant light on key problems such as Are the tests stronger proxies for race and family income today than they were 20 years ago Does going test optional promote racial and economic diversity Are there any differences in academic records between students admitted without test scores and those with them How does testing figure into race sensitive admissions legal controversies Why is the College Board's environmental dashboard inadequate as a way to create a fair playing field How are the odds of attending and graduating from college stacked against low income youths and racial minorities What does the FBI Varsity Blues sting tell us about college admissions in America Contributors Jon Boeckenstedt Michael DeWitt Paul Fain Valerie W Franks Saul Geiser Philip Handwerk William C Hiss William C Kidder Jay Rosner Robert A Schaeffer Joseph A Soares Steve Syverson

Augmentation of Brain Function: Facts, Fiction and Controversy Ioan Opris, Manuel F. Casanova, Mikhail Lebedev, 2018-09-14 The Volume II is entitled Neurostimulation and pharmacological approaches This volume describes augmentation approaches where improvements in brain functions are achieved by modulation of brain circuits with electrical or optical stimulation or pharmacological agents Activation of brain circuits with electrical currents is a conventional approach that includes such methods as i intracortical microstimulation ICMS ii transcranial direct current stimulation tDCS and iii transcranial magnetic stimulation TMS tDCS and TMS are often regarded as noninvasive methods Yet they may induce long lasting plastic changes in the brain This is why some authors consider the term noninvasive misleading when used to describe these and other techniques such as stimulation with transcranial lasers The volume further discusses the potential of neurostimulation as a research tool in the studies of perception cognition and behavior Additionally a notion is expressed that brain augmentation with stimulation cannot be described as a net zero sum proposition where brain resources are reallocated in such a way that gains in one function are balanced by costs elsewhere In recent years optogenetic methods have received an increased attention and several articles in Volume II cover different aspects of this technique While new optogenetic methods are being developed the classical electrical stimulation has already been utilized in many clinically relevant applications like the vestibular implant and tactile neuroprosthesis that utilizes ICMS As a peculiar usage of neurostimulation and pharmacological methods Volume II includes several articles on augmented memory Memory prostheses are a popular recent development in the stimulation based BMIs For example in a hippocampal memory prosthesis memory content is extracted from hippocampal activity using a multiple input multiple output non linear dynamical model As to the pharmacological approaches to augmenting memory and cognition the pros and cons of using nootropic drugs are discussed

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience
