The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick, 2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh's first public high school a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity Its graduates include Andy Warhol actor Bill Nunn and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace's reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America's oldest public schools

Poison Ivy Evan Mandery, 2025-03-18 Hailed as a staggering portrait of inequality in America Philip Dray Poison Ivy tells the bigger seedier story of how elite colleges create paths to admission available only to the wealthy despite rhetoric to the contrary In a lively and trenchant Washington Monthly account Evan Mandery a Harvard graduate and current professor at a public college that serves low and middle income students reveals how tacit agreements between exclusive Ivy plus schools and white affluent suburbs create widespread de facto segregation And as a college degree continues to be the surest route to upward mobility the inequality bred in our broken higher education system is now a principal driver of skyrocketing income inequality Mandery contrasts the lip service paid to opportunity by so many elite colleges and universities with schools that actually walk the walk Now in an accessible paperback format Poison Ivy is a no holds barred takedown Forbes that synthesizes fascinating insider information on everything from how students are evaluated unfair tax breaks and questionable fundraising practices to suburban rituals testing tutoring tuition schemes and more This bold provocative indictment of America's elite colleges shows us exactly what's at stake and what will be possible if we muster the collective will to transform it

Sylvia Hatchell Roberta Teague Herrin,Sheila Quinn Oliver,2021-07-02 As a young girl Sylvia Hatchell longed to play little league baseball and later high school basketball but both were closed to her because she was a girl In college her world shifted when she discovered a passion for coaching that would lead her to become a Naismith Hall of Fame coach of women s basketball at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill In this book Coach Hatchell s life story unfolds against the backdrop of Title IX and women s struggle for equal opportunities in athletics She celebrates triumphs such as winning the 1994 NCAA Division I Women s Basketball Tournament and weathers sadness and failure such as the loss of her parents surviving cancer and being forced to resign from her dream job in 2019

When Political Transitions Work Fanie du Toit,2018-07-26 The peaceful end of apartheid in South Africa was a monumental event in late twentieth century history A racist regime built upon a foundation of colonialist exploitation South Africa had become by that point a tinderbox suffused with day to day violence and political extremism on all sides Yet two decades later it was a stable democracy with a growing economy How did such a deeply divided conflicted society manage this remarkable transition In When Political Transitions Work Fanie du Toit who has been a participant and close observer in post conflict developments throughout Africa for decades offers a new theory for why South Africa s reconciliation worked and why its lessons remain relevant for other nations emerging from civil conflicts He uses reconciliation as a framework for political transition and seeks to answer three key questions how do the reconciliation processes begin how can political transitions result in inclusive and fair institutional change and to what extent does reconciliation change the way a society functions Looking at South Africa one of reconciliation s most celebrated cases Du Toit shows that the key ingredient to successful reconciliations is acknowledging the centrality of relationships He further develops his own theoretical approach to reconciliation as interdependence the idea that reconciliation is the result of an integrated process of courageous leadership fair and inclusive institutions and social change built toward a mutual goal of prosperity As Du Toit conveys the motivation for reconciliation is the long term well being of one's own community as well as that of enemy groups Without ensuring the conditions in which one's enemy can flourish one's own community is unlikely to prosper sustainably Pakistan's Pathway to the Bomb Mansoor Ahmed,2022 In Pakistan's Pathway to the Bomb author Mansoor Ahmed provides a groundbreaking account of Pakistan's rise as a nuclear power By drawing on elite interviews and previously untapped primary sources Ahmed reveals how bureaucratic politics shaped the nuclear program's development and where it stands today Social Studies Education in East Asian Contexts Kerry J. Kennedy,2020-07-28 The book explores the state of social studies education within selected East Asian societies and provides some insights into distinctive classroom practices In an increasingly volatile and unpredictable world the education of young people who both understand the contexts in which they are growing up and see the need for engaging with them is a top priority This task falls to social studies education which carries the responsibility for inducting young people into their social world and helping them to see the role they can play within it This is particularly important in East Asia where strong economic growth long held cultural values and diverse political systems create an environment that challenges young people on multiple fronts This book with its team of regional authors shows how different societies in the region are dealing with these challenges and what can be expected from future citizens The book will appeal to policy makers researchers and teachers interested in the current state of social studies education in East Asian societies History of the U.S. Army Cadet Command Leo J.
