My Soul Is a Witness Mari N. Crabtree, 2023-01-10 An intimate look at the afterlife of lynching through the personal stories of Black victims and survivors who lived through and beyond its trauma Mari N Crabtree traces the long afterlife of lynching in the South through the traumatic memories it left in its wake She unearths how African American victims and survivors found ways to live through and beyond the horrors of lynching offering a theory of African American collective trauma and memory rooted in the ironic spirit of the blues sensibility a spirit of misdirection and cunning that blends joy and pain Black southerners often shielded their loved ones from the most painful memories of local lynchings with strategic silences but also told lynching stories about vengeful ghosts or a wrathful God or the deathbed confessions of a lyncher tormented by his past They protested lynching and its legacies through art and activism and they mourned those lost to a mob's fury They infused a blues element into their lynching narratives to confront traumatic memories and keep the blues at bay even if just for a spell Telling their stories troubles the simplistic binary of resistance or submission that has tended to dominate narratives of Black life and reminds us that amid the utter devastation of lynching were glimmers of hope and an affirmation of life

Scratch Manjula Martin, 2017-01-03 A collection of essays from today's most acclaimed authors from Cheryl Strayed to Roxane Gay to Jennifer Weiner Alexander Chee Nick Hornby and Jonathan Franzen on the realities of making a living in the writing world In the literary world the debate around writing and commerce often begs us to take sides either writers should be paid for everything they do or writers should just pay their dues and count themselves lucky to be published You should never quit your day job but your ultimate goal should be to quit your day job It's an endless confusing and often controversial conversation that despite our bare it all culture still remains taboo In Scratch Manjula Martin has gathered interviews and essays from established and rising authors to confront the age old question how do creative people make money As contributors including Jonathan Franzen Cheryl Strayed Roxane Gay Nick Hornby Susan Orlean Alexander Chee Daniel Jose Older Jennifer Weiner and Yiyun Li candidly and emotionally discuss money MFA programs teaching fellowships finally
