Japans Contested War Memories:

Japan's Contested War Memories Philip A. Seaton, 2007-03-12 Japan's Contested War Memories is an important and significant book that explores the struggles within contemporary Japanese society to come to terms with Second World War history. Focusing particularly on 1972 onwards, the period starts with the normalization of relations with China and the return of Okinawa to Japan in 1972 and ends with the sixtieth anniversary commemorations. Analyzing the variety of ways in which the Japanese people narrate, contest and interpret the past, the book is also a major critique of the way the subject has been treated in much of the English language. Philip Seaton concludes that war history in Japan today is more divisive and widely argued over than in any of the other major Second World War combatant nations. Providing a sharp contrast to the many orthodox statements about Japanese ignorance, amnesia and denial about the war, this is an engaging and illuminating study that will appeal to scholars and students of Japanese history, politics, cultural studies, society and memory theory. Japan's

History and War Memories in Hokkaido Philip A. Seaton, 2015-07-24 Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan, barely features in most histories of the Second World War. However, the combination of distinctive war experiences, a vibrant set of local historian groups and powerful media organizations disseminating local war history has generated an identifiable set of local collective memories. Hokkaido's status as an early colonial acquisition also makes the island an important vantage point from which to reassess the course and nature of the Japanese Empire. This book argues that Hokkaido's experiences of war and its militarized post-war constitute a local case study with a much greater national and international significance on both theoretical and empirical grounds than first impressions might suggest. Using Japanese language sources presented for the first time in English and a number of detailed local history case studies, it offers a fascinating and hitherto little-known perspective on the Second World War. It also combines a comprehensive theory of how war memories operate at the local level within a broad historical context that explains Hokkaido's pivotal role within Japanese imperial history. Demonstrating that understanding local history and memories is essential for a nuanced understanding of national history and memories, the book will be highly valuable to students and scholars of Japanese history Second World War history and Asian history

War Memory and East Asian Conflicts, 1930-1945 Eveline Buchheim, Jennifer Coates, 2023-06-29 This book explores how narratives exhibitions media representations and cultural heritage sites that communicate memories of conflicts in East Asia between 1930 and 1945 spread interact and are re packaged for post war audiences across national divisions The contributors examine individual case studies of grassroots engagement with war memory and collectively demonstrate the necessity of remaining aware of the researcher as participating in another kind of engagement with war memory Contributions showcase a number of ways of doing research on war memory alongside case studies from diverse regions of the world Taken together they bring a fresh perspective to scholarship on war memory which has tended to focus on space text exhibition or personal narrative rather than bringing these elements into dialogue with one another Remembering

the Road to World War Two Patrick Finney, 2010-09-13 Remembering the Road to World War Two is a broad and comparative international survey of the historiography of the origins of the Second World War It explores how in the case of each of the major combatant countries historical writing on the origins of the Second World War has been inextricably linked with conceptions of national identity and collective memory The Politics of War Memory in Japan Kamila

Szczepanska, 2014-05-09 Since the 1990s questions of Japanese wartime conduct apologies for aggression and compensation to former victims of the country's imperial policies have been brought to the fore of national and regional politics The state is undoubtedly the most important actor in the process of memory production and along with conservative legislators and the grass root revisionist movement there has been a consistent trend towards denying or undermining the existing acknowledgments of responsibility for Japan's wartime past However to fully comprehend war memory in Japan due attention must be paid to competing discourses that demand an alternative view and only then can the complexity of Japanese war memory and attitudes towards the legacies of the Asia Pacific war be understood The Politics of War Memory in Japan examines the involvement of five civil society actors in the struggle over remembering and addressing the wartime past in Japan today In studying progressive war memory activists it quickly becomes clear that the apologia by conservative politicians cannot be treated as representative of the opinion of the majority of the Japanese public Indeed this book seeks to remedy the disparity between studies devoted to the official level of addressing the history issue and the grass root historical revisionist movement on the one side and progressive activism on the other Furthermore it contributes to scholarly debates on the state of civil society in Japan challenging the characterisation of Japanese civil society as a depoliticised space by demonstrating a more contentious side of civil society activism Drawing important new empirical research this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Japanese civil society Japanese politics Japanese history and memory in Japan

Embracing 'Asia' in China and Japan Torsten Weber, 2017-12-13 This book examines how Asianism became a key concept in mainstream political discourse between China and Japan and how it was used both domestically and internationally in the contest for political hegemony It argues that from the early 1910s to the early 1930s this contest changed Chinese and Japanese perceptions of Asia from a concept that was foreign referential foreign imposed peripheral and mostly negative and denied in Japan or largely ignored in China to one that was self referential self defined central and widely affirmed and embraced As an ism Asianism elevated Asia as a geographical concept with culturalist racist implications to the status of a full blown political principle and encouraged its proposal and discussion vis vis other political doctrines of the time such as nationalism internationalism and imperialism By the mid 1920s a great variety of conceptions of Asianism had emerged in the transnational discourse between Japan and China Terminologically and conceptually they not only paved the way for the appropriation of Asia discourse by Japanese imperialism from the early 1930s onwards but also facilitated the embrace of Sino centric conceptions of Asianism by Chinese politicians and collaborators

Excavating the Power of Memory in Japan Glenn D Hook, 2018-02-02

Excavating the power of memory offers a succinct examination of how memory is constructed embedded and disseminated in contemporary Japanese society The unique range and perspective of this collection will provide an understanding not found elsewhere It starts with a lucid introduction of how memory plays a political and wider social role in Japan Four case studies follow The first takes up the divergence in memory at the national and subnational levels by analysing the memory of the battle of Okinawa and US military accidents in Okinawa prefecture illuminating how memory in the prefecture embeds Okinawans as victims of mainland Japan and of the United States The second explores whether Japan s membership of the International Criminal Court represents a shift in the Japanese government s negative remembrance of the International Military Tribunal for the Far East demonstrating how both courts are largely portrayed as being disconnected in political debates The third offers an analysis of the surviving letters of the Kamikaze pilots in order to interrogate and compare their presumed identity in the dominant collective memory and their own self identities The fourth untangles how the memory of winds in Japanese fishing communities remains an expression of social thought that presides over the transmission of meaning about fishermen s geographical surroundings This book was previously published as a special issue of the Japan Forum

Contesting Memorial Spaces of Japan's Empire Edward Boyle, Steven Ivings, 2024-09-19 Ongoing arguments over how histories are honoured as evidenced by the conflict between South Korea and Japan over the opening of Tokyo s Heritage Information Centre in June 2020 reveal the extent to which heritage processes enable states to assert legitimacy and power on a global stage Here Contesting Memorial Spaces of Japan s Empire shines a timely spotlight on the complicated histories and disputed legacies of various sites associated with Japan s empire in Asia and the Pacific Bringing together a team of international scholars this transnational study sees contested memorial spaces as windows for us to explore how borders are created moved and altered in everyday life From the Asan Bay Overlook Memorial Wall in Guam and the Puppet Emperor Palace in China to Japan s Ainu Museum and the Cowra War Cemetery in Australia the diverse range of case studies examined here foreground the complex relationship Japan and its neighbours have with their imperial past and reveal how these relations stand at the intersection of individual actions societal choices and memory collectives In doing so this innovative collection of essays bridges history geography and heritage studies to provide an invaluable new approach to the study of imperial conflict and memory politics
