What is Geography?

Geography is a science that deals with the distribution and arrangement of all elements of the earth's surface.

Distribution Pattern

- Comes from the greek words meaning earth's description.
- Geography talks about the environment of the earth's surface and the relationship between humans and the earth's environment.
- Physical geographic features include: climate, land, water, plant, and animal life.
- Cultural geographic features include: nations, settlement patterns, communication and transportation networks and other modifications of the natural environment.
- Humans are included in the biodiversity as the most intelligent
- Geographers use many disciplines in their studies.(e.g. geology, biology, history, mathematics, and others)
- Main focus of geography in grade 9 is the overpopulation cause and effects which include climate change and lack of resources.

Branches of Geography

There are two main branches of geography- systematic and regional.

- Systematic geography- defined as the concerned with the individual physical and/or cultural elements of the earth(usually examined one at a time)(ex. Geology, soils, climatology, urban studies, etc.)
- Regional geography- defined as the concerned with an examination of various areas of the earth, especially the unique combinations of physical and cultural features that characterizes each region and distinguish this region from another.(e.g. Canada's physical landform regions)
- These two branches of geography are interdependent and usually studied and applied together.

Methods of Geography

- Geographic data is collected and displayed in a variety of different ways including: charts, graphs, textbooks, and especially maps.
- Maps are the most important tools of geography, they provide a wealth and a variety of factual information.
- Geographers collect data in the field or from secondary sources such as a
