Lechevalier,2019-08-02 The major purpose of this book is to clarify the importance of non technological factors in innovation to cope with contemporary complex societal issues while critically reconsidering the relations between science technology innovation STI and society For a few decades now innovation mainly derived from technological advancement has been considered a driving force of economic and societal development and prosperity With that in mind the following questions are dealt with in this book What are the non technological sources of innovation What can the progress of STI bring to humankind What roles will society be expected to play in the new model of innovation The authors argue that the majority of so called technological innovations are actually socio technical innovations requiring huge resources for financing activities adapting regulations designing adequate policy frames and shaping new uses and new users while having the appropriate interaction with society This book gathers multi and trans disciplinary approaches in innovation that go beyond technology and take into account the inter relations with social and human phenomena Illustrated by carefully chosen examples and based on broad and well informed analyses it is highly recommended to readers who seek an in depth and up to date integrated overview of innovation in its non technological dimensions Flip-Flop Caroline Knowles,2014-05-20 Shortlisted for the BBC Radio 4 Thinking Allowed Award for Ethnography 2015 This book follows the global trail of one of the world's most unremarkable and ubiquitous objects flip flops Through this unique lens Caroline Knowles takes a ground level view of the lives and places of globalisation's back roads providing new insights that challenge contemporary accounts of globalisation Rather than orderly product chains the book shows that globalisation along the flip flop trail is a tangle of unstable shifting ad hoc and contingent connections This book displays both the instabilities of the chains and the complexities personal topographies and skills with which people navigate these global uncertainties Flip Flop provides new ways of thinking about globalisation from the vantage point of the shifting landscape crossed by a seemingly ordinary and everyday commodity Globalization JoAnn Chirico,2013-08-01 This groundbreaking text on globalization provides a

Postcolonialism Tariq Jazeel, 2019-02-22 Postcolonialism is a book that examines the influence of postcolonial theory in critical geographical thought and scholarship Aimed at advanced level students and researchers the book is a lively stimulating and relevant introduction to postcolonial geography that elaborates on the critical interventions in social cultural and political life this important subfield is poised to make The book is structured around three intersecting parts Spaces Identity hybridity Knowledge that broadly follow the trajectory of postcolonial studies since the late 1970s It comprises ten main chapters each of which is situated at the intersections of postcolonialism and critical human geography In doing so Postcolonialism develops three key arguments First that postcolonialism is best conceived as an intellectually creative and practical set of methodologies or approaches for critically engaging existing manifestations of power and exclusion in everyday life and in taken as given spaces Second that postcolonialism is at its core concerned with the politics of representation both in terms of how people and space are represented but also the politics surrounding who is able to represent themselves and on what whose terms Third the book argues that postcolonialism itself is an inherently geographical intellectual enterprise despite its origins in literary theory In developing these arguments and addressing a series of relevant and international case studies and examples throughout Postcolonialism not only demonstrates the importance of postcolonial theory to the contemporary critical geographical imagination It also argues that geographers have much to offer to continued theorizations and workings of postcolonial theory politics and intellectual debates going forward This is a book that brings critical analyses of the continued and omnipresent legacies of colonialism and imperialism to the heart of human geography but also one that returns an avowedly critical geographical disposition to the core of interdisciplinary postcolonial studies

International Trade and Sustainable Development Bob Milward, 2019-11-19 The contemporary orthodox view of world trade has centred generally unchallenged on the ideas of free trade based on the theoretical construct of comparative advantage This book will engage in a critique of the orthodox position based on the underlying theoretical economic construct the historical development of the now developed economies and the morally unsustainable position of the free trade regime The author examines alternatives such as Most Favoured Nation and Preferential Trading Agreements before making the argument in favour of Asymmetric Trading where the underdeveloped economies can develop behind tariff barriers and quotas whilst the triadic nations maintain a lack of barriers to the exports of these economies He outlines how such a trading regime would be mutually beneficial in the long term in the sense that development through industrialisation takes place and the increase in GDP per capita would allow markets for exports to be sustainable thus widening the market for the goods and services of the developed economies However the author demonstrates that free trade actually increases the development gap by maintaining the status quo in terms of the underdeveloped economies specialising in and exporting low value added primary products and importing high value added manufactures The book analyses contemporary and historical data to illustrate how an alternative trading regime can be truly advantageous to both the developed and underdeveloped regions of the world a global trading regime that is capable of increasing GDP in a sustainable manner without transferring a surplus from the poor to the rich nations and without a long term commitment on the part of the developed nations to altruism
