History of Nordic Computing 2 John Impagliazzo,Timo Järvi,Petri Paju,2009-09-21 The First Conference on the History of Nordic Computing HiNC1 was organized in Trondheim in June 2003. The HiNC1 event focused on the early years of computing that is the years from the 1940s through the 1960s although it formally extended to year 1985. In the preface of the proceedings of HiNC1 Janis Bubenko Jr, John Impagliazzo and Arne S. Iyberg describe well the peculiarities of early Nordic computing. While developing hardware was a necessity for the first professionals quite soon the computer became an industrial product. Computer scientists among others grew increasingly interested in programming and application software. Progress in these areas from the 1960s to the 1980s was experienced as astonishing. The developments during these decades were taken as the focus of HiNC2. During those decades computers arrived to every branch of large and medium sized businesses and the users of the computer systems were no longer only computer specialists but also people with other main duties. Compared to the early years of computing before 1960 where the number of computer projects and applications was small capturing a holistic view of the history between the 1960s and the 1980s is considerably more difficult. The HiNC2 conference attempted to help in this endeavor.

33 Questions About American History You're Not Supposed to Ask Thomas E. Woods, Jr., 2007-07-10

Guess what! The Indians didn't save the Pilgrims from starvation by teaching them to grow corn. Thomas Jefferson thought states' rights, an idea reviled today, were even more important than the Constitution's checks and balances. The Wild West was more peaceful and a lot safer than most modern cities. And the biggest scandal of the Clinton years didn't involve an intern in a blue dress. Surprised? Don't be. In America where history is riddled with misrepresentations, misunderstandings and flat-out lies about the people and events that have shaped the nation, there's the history you know and then there's the truth. In 33 Questions About American History You're Not Supposed to Ask Thomas E. Woods Jr., the New York Times bestselling author of The Politically Incorrect Guide to American History, sets the record straight with a provocative look at the hidden truths about our nation's history, the ones that have been buried because they're too politically incorrect to discuss. Woods draws on real scholarship as opposed to the myths, platitudes and slogans so many other history books are based on to ask and answer tough questions about American history including: Did the Founding Fathers support immigration? Was the Civil War all about slavery? Did the Framers really look to the American Indians as the model for the U.S. political system? Was the U.S. Constitution meant to be a living, breathing document and does it grant the federal government wide latitude to operate as it pleases? Did Bill Clinton actually stop a genocide as we're told? You'd never know it from the history that's been handed down to us, but the answer to all those questions is no. Woods's eye-opening exploration reveals how much has been whitewashed from the historical record, overlooked and skewed beyond recognition. More informative than your last U.S. history class, 33 Questions About American History You're Not Supposed to Ask will have you wondering just how much about your nation's past you haven't been told.
