Assessment of Reading in International Studies Jenny Lenkeit, Knut Schwippert, 2020-05-21 This book brings together contributions from different scholarly contexts that address a diverse range of focused topics as well as empirical and conceptual perspectives on research with international studies Some chapters focus on technical aspects exploring opportunities for drawing causal inferences from the data and investigating biases originating in distributional scale properties Others are of a more conceptual nature addressing changes in the relevance of socio economic indicators across time and countries examining the exposure of mother tongue and English instruction on performance and investigating the effects of test construction on gender difference The discussion takes a much needed meta perspective on the usefulness of international large scale assessments for educational research and allows reflection upon possibilities and opportunities for their improvement This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education

Rethinking Setswana Literacy Practices Dudu Jankie, 2001 The study findings suggest that the Discourses constructed in Setswana classrooms in interaction with those constructed in the macro contexts of the society simultaneously accommodate and silence students personal experiences and community knowledge Similarly they contribute to the roles and positioning of expert teachers in relation to Setswana teaching as well as to teachers and students positive and negative perceptions towards incorporating knowledge about the community and students experiences in Setswana literacy instruction

Whose Education For All? Birgit Brock-Utne, 2002-06 This book examines the new donor concept education for all which was coined at a World Bank initiated conference in 1990 in Jomtien Thailand The author uses her experience to examine what is going on in the education sector

Primary Education in Crisis Brahm Fleisch, 2008 In the past decade the national preoccupation has been on the crisis in secondary schools Lurking behind the intractable problem of low pass rates the dysfunctional schools and the small number of higher grade mathematics and science graduates is the calamity in primary education Drawing on the work of researchers in a range of fields including psychology sociology anthropology linguistics economics the health sciences and mathematics education this book documents the depth and scope of the primary education crisis and provides a comprehensive and rigorous explanation of its causes Primary education in crisis pulls together the wealth of research on health poverty resources language and teaching as factors in academic achievement in reading writing and mathematics At the centre of the book is an analysis of the published studies that systematically document what teachers teach and fail to teach and why it is that teaching is at the heart of the crisis in primary education The author suggests that there are no quick fixes but only hard choices and that for reform to succeed it must be evidence based relationship between translation and development The book intends to be interdisciplinary in nature and to foster interdisciplinary research and dialogue by relating the newest trends in translation theory i e agency theory in the sociology of translation to development theory within sociology Data in the volume will be drawn from fields that have received very little if any attention in translation studies i e local economic development the knowledge economy and the informal economy
