Ideation, Conceptualization, Realization Sarah Leins-Zurmuehle, 2021-10-11 The software industry is regarded as one of the most creative and dynamic industries in the world At the same time sheltering software through copyright and patent law has been a major point of contention for the past 40 years This doctoral thesis aims to provide new insights to this discussion Through the use of sociological methodology it supplies the necessary basic scientific research regarding how software is developed and commercialized nowadays Based on these findings it then legally evaluates to what extent copyright and patent law are able to reflect these structures and determines how an optimal protection scope for computer programs could look like today This doctoral thesis on one hand offers novel insights and points of view on existing legal doctrines It further acknowledges as well as legally qualifies some prevailing trends in the software industry such as Scrum and continuous delivery that have so far been largely unaddressed by copyright and patent law

The Law and Economics of Article 102 TFEU Robert O'Donoghue KC, Jorge Padilla, 2014-07-18 The Law and Economics of Article 102 TFEU is a comprehensive integrated treatment of the legal and economic principles that underpin the application of Article 102 TFEU to the behaviour of dominant firms Traditional concerns of monopoly behaviour such as predatory pricing refusals to deal excessive pricing tying and bundling discount practices and unlawful discrimination are treated in detail through a review of the applicable economic principles the case law and decisional practice and more recent economic and legal writings In addition the major constituent elements of Article 102 TFEU such as market definition dominance effect on trade and applicable remedies are considered at length Jointly authored by a lawyer and an economist The Law and Economics of Article 102 TFEU contains an integrated approach to the legal and economic principles that frame policy in this major area of competition law Although written primarily with practitioners and in house lawyers in mind it is essential reading for anyone with an interest in competition law enforcement against monopoly behaviour

Adverse Impact Analysis Scott B. Morris, Eric M. Dunleavy, 2016-12-01 Compliance with federal equal employment opportunity regulations including civil rights laws and affirmative action requirements requires collection and analysis of data on disparities in employment outcomes often referred to as adverse impact While most human resources HR practitioners are familiar with basic adverse impact analysis the courts and regulatory agencies are increasingly relying on more sophisticated methods to assess disparities Employment data are often complicated and can include a broad array of employment actions e g selection pay promotion termination as well as data that span multiple protected groups settings and points in time In the era of big data the HR analyst often has access to larger and more complex data sets relevant to employment disparities Consequently an informed HR practitioner needs a richer understanding of the issues and methods for conducting disparity analyses This book brings together the diverse literature on disparity analysis spanning work from statistics industrial organizational psychology human resource management labor economics and law to provide a comprehensive and integrated summary of current best practices in the field Throughout the description of methods is grounded in the legal context and current trends in employment litigation and the practices of federal regulatory agencies The book provides guidance on all phases of disparity analysis including How to structure diverse and complex employment data for disparity analysis How to conduct both basic and advanced statistical analyses on employment outcomes related to employee selection promotion compensation termination and other employment outcomes How to interpret results in terms of both practical and statistical significance Common practical challenges and pitfalls in disparity analysis and strategies to deal with these issues European Competition Law Annual 2013 Philip Lowe, Mel Marquis, Giorgio Monti, 2016-04-21 This volume contains papers presented at the 18th Annual EU Competition Law and Policy Workshop The papers examine means of balancing effective public competition law enforcement and the requirements of legitimate and accountable exercise of public authority The authors address the design and performance of various enforcement tools at European and national levels including sanctions and remedies but also distinctive instruments under Regulation 1 2003 eg commitment procedures and under the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union Article 106 3 when used as a basis for infringement procedures From the perspective of legitimacy reflections focus on the implications of fundamental rights standards and general principles of law for the EU s complex and quasi federal enforcement architecture Issues that may sometimes escape judicial scrutiny are also discussed such as how agencies prioritise their activities and how investigation responsibilities are distributed within the European Competition Network Effectiveness and legitimacy are then considered in the context of public enforcement cooperation beyond the EU where international organisations regional cooperation and a range of formal and informal modes of governance prevail Current Technical Service Contracts and Grants United States.
