Flaubert's The Temptation of St Antony Or A Revelation of the Soul is a profound exploration of spiritual and existential angst presented through a rich and innovative literary style that intertwines a lyrical prose with dramatic dialogue. Written in the mid 19th century, the text departs from conventional narrative forms, serving as a philosophical meditation on temptation, faith, and the human condition. Flaubert's ability to blend historical and mythical elements challenges readers to question their own beliefs and convictions, making the text both a personal and universal confrontation with doubt and desire. Flaubert, a towering figure of literary realism, was deeply influenced by his encounters with the complexities of the human psyche and a growing disillusionment with traditional religious beliefs. His experience with the tumultuous socio-political landscape of France, alongside a fervent artistic pursuit, guided him to craft this work as an exploration of the dualities present in faith and reason. This quest for a deeper understanding of the soul's revelations resonates throughout his body of work, yet finds a particularly fervent articulation in this piece. Readers seeking a transformative literary experience will find The Temptation of St Antony both challenging and rewarding. This work beckons those interested in the intersections of theology, philosophy, and literature, inviting them to engage earnestly with the timeless questions of existence. Flaubert's profound insights into the human spirit make this text an essential addition for anyone exploring the metaphysical dimensions of narrative.

A Redemptive Theology of Art David A. Covington, 2018-05-01 A Redemptive Theology of Art develops a biblical systematic and practical theology of aesthetics. It begins with the roots and ontology of aesthetics vs art and the architecture and narrative of affection and passion, their woes and their glory. Those who would search the Bible find little support for art as commonly conceived in the West. The language of aesthetics applied to the maker's intentions, the qualities of the work, and the responses of the audience better addresses the questions of beauty and better suits the discussion of human actions, beliefs, and culture than the language of art does. The Bible yields more consistent and helpful answers to questions about the broader category of aesthetics than it does to questions about art, leading in turn to better questions and a more practical and theological appreciation of human affections, beauty, and delight, and the many paths by which people, including Christians, pursue them. Using the categories and definitions from Scripture, Covington gives hope and help not only for those who labor in the arts but for everyone who cares about the passions that motivate us. We were made for God's delight, and though sin and bondage plague our passions, God can shape our feelings, desires, affections, and aversions. Feelings are neither objective nor subjective; they are redeemable. Borrowing key ideas from other Christian writers on the arts or aesthetics, Covington explores the connection between orthodox Protestant theology and a responsible, respectful treatment of arts, artists, and all aesthetic fields of human work and speech.
