World to Live In G. M. Woodwell, 2016-02-26 A scientist makes a powerful case that preservation of the integrity of the biosphere is a necessity and an inviolable human right A century of industrial development is the briefest of moments in the half billion years of the earth's evolution And yet our current era has brought greater changes to the earth than any period in human history The biosphere the globe's life giving envelope of air and climate has been changed irreparably In A World to Live In the distinguished ecologist George Woodwell shows that the biosphere is now a global human protectorate and that its integrity of structure and function are tied closely to the human future The earth is a living system Woodwell explains and its stability is threatened by human disruption Industry dumps its waste globally and makes a profit from it invading the global commons corporate interests overpower weak or nonexistent governmental protection to plunder the planet The fossil fuels industry offers the most dramatic example of environmental destruction disseminating the heat trapping gases that are now warming the earth and changing the climate forever The assumption that we can continue to use fossil fuels and adapt to climate disruption Woodwell argues is a ticket to catastrophe But Woodwell points the way toward a solution We must respect the full range of life on earth not species alone but their natural communities of plant and animal life that have built and still maintain the biosphere We must recognize that the earth's living systems are our heritage and that the preservation of the integrity of a finite biosphere is a necessity and an inviolable human right Narratives of Academics' Personal

Journeys in Contested Spaces Namrata Rao, Anesa Hosein, Ian M. Kinchin, 2023-05-18 Narratives of Academics Personal Journeys in Contested Spaces provides theoretically informed personal narratives of 11 emerging and established leaders in learning and teaching in Australia Finland New Zealand Singapore the UK and the USA The academics narratives focus on how the individuals have navigated to their current leadership role in learning and teaching whilst negotiating contested identities such as gender and physical and social marginalised spaces such as interstitial middle leadership positions These international narratives provide unique perspectives on the sense making of academics as they reflect on their learning and teaching leadership journey and how these journeys are shaped by their contested identities and the marginalised spaces they inhabit Often such identities and spaces are not recognised in higher education which may lead to even more isolating and challenging leadership journeys The book contributes to our understanding of the subjective experiences that academics encounter in their leadership journeys Further the personal narratives included in the book capture how the contested identities and marginalised spaces influence the learning and teaching leadership practices in various educational cultural and national contexts

Fight Your Own War Jennifer Wallis, 2016-09-14 Power electronics is a genre of industrial or noise music that utilises feedback and synthesizers to produce an intense loud challenging sound To match this sonic excess power electronics also relies heavily upon extreme thematic and visual content whether in lyrics album art or live performance The result is a violent ecstatic and potentially consciousness altering spectacle and a genre that often invites strong reactions from both listeners and critics FIGHT YOUR OWN WAR is the first English language book primarily devoted to power electronics Written by artists fans and critics from around the world its essays and reviews explore the current state of the genre from early development through to live performance listener experience artist motivation gender and subcultures such as Japanoise In considering this spectacle of noise how far can we simply label power electronics as a genre of shock tactics or of transgression for transgression s sake

Convergence and Diversity in the Governance of Higher Education Giliberto Capano, Darryl S. L. Jarvis, 2020-11-19 For several decades higher education systems have undergone continuous waves of reform driven by a combination of concerns about the changing labour needs of the economy competition within the global knowledge economy and nationally competitive positioning strategies to enhance the performance of higher education systems Yet despite far ranging international pressures including the emergence of an international higher education market enormous growth in cross border student mobility and pressures to achieve universities of world class standing boost research productivity and impact and compete in global league tables the suites of policy policy designs and sector outcomes continue to be marked as much by hybridity as they are of similarity or convergence This volume explores these complex governance outcomes from a theoretical and empirical comparative perspective addressing those vectors precipitating change in the modalities and instruments of governance and how they interface at the systemic and institutional levels and across geographic regions

The Politics of Marketising Asia T. Carroll, D. Jarvis, 2014-05-29 Economic growth continues to transform the economic and political landscape of Asia Equally the policies now being adopted to promote private sector participation re structure state entities and reduce the presence of the state in the provision of public goods and services are tied to fundamental transformations in Asia s state society relations The global cast of contributors present a timely analysis of the impact of neo liberalism on Asia s developmental policies and the organisation of Asian states and markets Ironically the developmental state that has historically driven Asia's rapid economic transformation is now threatened by an increasingly dominant neoliberal agenda that aims to roll back the state in the name of market fundamentalism
