O Neal author of The All You Can Dream Buffet 7 time RITA award winner and RWA Hall of Fame member The business of writing is unnecessarily intimidating Editors want good writing so why can it be so hard to get published Writer's Market helps make sense of that big question offering the kind of straight shooting advice writers need I bought my first copy over a decade ago and still feel grateful that I was able to send my first submissions without embarrassing myself Writer's Market is an invaluable tool that I find myself recommending again and again Erica Wright author of the novel The Red Chameleon and poetry collection Instructions for Killing the Jackal as well as Senior Editor for Guernica Magazine

Things We Know: Fifteen Essays on Problems of Knowledge Frank B. Ebersole, 2001-12-11 Reading Ebersole requires and often succeeds in producing a radical reorientation of one's thinking from a book review Things We Know is a collection of fifteen essays that focus on perennial philosophical problems about knowledge The essays let you participate in Frank Ebersole's unique struggles to come to terms with such questions as Can we know the world the past the future of God's existence whether our actions are free the foundations of logic and language This is not just another philosophy book about problems of knowledge In Things We Know Ebersole by carefully using examples exposes the problems to be the products of philosophical pictures The examples also make the pictures less compelling Thus by reading this philosophy book readers can join the author in working to free themselves from some perplexing philosophical concerns How the Second Edition differs from the First Edition This edition differs from the First Edition University of Oregon Books 1967 in three ways An essay is added Everyman's Ontological Argument has been inserted as Essay 14 following two other essays about the ontological argument Everyman's Ontological Argument was published in the Fall 1978 issue of Philosophical Investigations The original Chapter 14 Where the Action Is is now Chapter 15 An essay is replaced The original Essay 3 How Philosophers See Stars has been replaced by a modified version that was printed in Philosophy Today no 2 1969 The replacement includes some further improvements The text is improved Throughout the book the author has made corrections stylistic improvements and changed the wording as needed to make clearer his line of thought Summary Each of the fifteen essays takes up a philosophical problem In most of the essays Ebersole first clarifies the problem and reviews common attempts to resolve the problem Then he focuses on the central ideas and terms used to state the problem and creates examples of people using the terms under consideration The examples are unique because of their focus on the context and point of what we say If his investigations fail to find a use of the terms that supports the philosophical problem he is led to conclude that the problem does not really derive from a philosophical insight but rather arises from a philosophical picture or model Preface The essays in Things We Know address some of the perennial philosophical problems of knowledge The essays are unified by being similar in method and philosophic aim Ebersole exposes a picture behind each problem In the essays he works through some of the ways that pictures control our thinking and tries to make the pictures less compelling Chapters 1-6 Perception and Language Chapter 1 Seeing Red in Red Things Philosophical problem Must words for simple visual properties e.g. red refer to things because the things share some property e.g. redness. Can we see this property? Topics investigated: Family resemblances, properties of colors when we regard things as the same when we regard colors as the same when we regard things as having common properties, language, world, philosophical pictures. Philosophers discussed: A.J. Ayer, J. Herder, J.S. Mill.

Chapter 2: Seeing Things. Philosophical problem: Do hallucinations and afterimages? The Pharmaceutical Journal and Transactions, 1875. Journal of the Military Service Institution of the United States, 1915. A History of International Law in Italy Giulio Bartolini, 2020-04-02. This volume critically reassesses the history and impact of international law in Italy. It examines how Italy's engagement with international law has been influenced and cross-fertilized by global dynamics in terms of theories, methodologies, or professional networks. It asks to what extent historical and political turning points influenced this engagement, especially where scholars were part of broader academic and public debates or even active participants in the role of legal advisers or politicians. It explores how international law was used or misused by relevant actors in such contexts. Bringing together scholars specialized in international law and legal history, this volume first provides a historical examination of the theoretical legal analysis produced in the Italian context, exploring its main features and dissident voices. The second section assesses the impact on international law studies of key historical and political events involving Italy, both internationally and domestically, and conversely how such events influenced perceptions of international law. Finally, a concluding section places the preceding analysis within a broader contemporary perspective. This volume weighs in on the growing debate on the need to explore international law from comparative and local viewpoints. It shows how regional, national, and local contexts have contributed to shaping international legal rules, institutions, and doctrines, and how these in turn influenced local solutions.
