--	--	---

Task 1: Strategic Analysis
 The first task is to conduct a strategic analysis of the organization. This involves identifying the external and internal environments of the organization. The external environment includes factors such as the market, competitors, and technology. The internal environment includes factors such as the organization's resources, capabilities, and culture. You should analyze the strengths and weaknesses of the organization and identify the opportunities and threats in the external environment.

Task 2: Strategic Formulation
 The second task is to formulate a strategy for the organization. This involves developing a strategic vision for the organization, formulating strategic objectives and strategies, and developing a strategic plan for the organization. The strategic vision should be clear, concise, and inspiring. The strategic objectives should be specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound. The strategies should be designed to achieve the strategic objectives. The strategic plan should outline the actions that need to be taken to implement the strategies.

Task 3: Strategic Implementation
 The third task is to implement the strategy for the organization. This involves putting the strategic plan into action. You should monitor the progress of the implementation and make adjustments as needed. You should also communicate the strategy to all employees and ensure that they understand their role in implementing the strategy.

Task 4: Strategic Evaluation
 The fourth task is to evaluate the strategy for the organization. This involves assessing the performance of the organization against the strategic objectives and strategies. You should identify the strengths and weaknesses of the strategy and make adjustments as needed.
