The Human Rights Breakthrough of the 1970s Sara Lorenzini, Umberto Tulli, Ilaria Zamburlini, 2021-12-16 During the 1970s human rights took the front stage in international relations fuelling political debates social activism and a reconceptualising of both East West and North South relations Nowhere was the debate on human rights more intense than in Western Europe where human rights discourses intertwined the Cold War and the European Convention on Human Rights the legacies of European empires and the construction of national welfare systems Over time the European Community EC began incorporating human rights into its international activity with the ambitious political will to prove that the Community was a global civilian power This book brings together the growing scholarship on human rights during the 1970s the history of European integration and the study of Western European supranational cooperation Examining the role of human rights in EC activities in Latin America Africa the Mediterranean Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union The Human Rights Breakthrough of the 1970s seeks to verify whether a specifically European approach to human rights existed and asks whether there was a distinctive European voice in the human rights surge of the 1970s

Chinese City and Regional Planning Systems Li Yu, 2017-03-02 While the Chinese planning system is vitally important to the rapid development which has been taking place over the past three decades this is the first text to provide a comprehensive examination and critical evaluation of this system It sets the current system in historical context and explains the hierarchy of government departments responsible for planning and construction the different types of plans produced and recent urban planning innovations which have been put into practice Illustrated with boxed empirical case studies it shows the problems faced by the planning system in facing the uncertainty in the market economy In all it provides readers with a full understanding of a complex and powerful system which is very distinct from other planning systems around the world As such it is essential reading for all students interested in the current development taking place in China and in addition to planning students with a general interest in planning systems and theory

Securing the 'Rice Bowl' Hongzhou Zhang, 2018-07-03 This book offers a snappy but comprehensive investigation of how the resource needs of today could become the resource conflicts of tomorrow As the most populous country in the world the security of China's rice bowl is not only a top political priority for China's policymakers but increasingly a critical global concern as the country emerges as a leading food importer and a major player in outward agricultural investment. This book sheds light on China's efforts both at home and abroad to safeguard its food security and how these efforts will affect global food systems. This book will be of interest to industry analysts, institutional investors, and scholars of China's global rise.

Water Resources and Economic Processes Tiziano Distefano, 2020-09-27 Water exploitation has increased notably in the world during the last 250 years since the onset of industrialisation. The relationships between economic processes and water use are complex and include many interwoven drivers such as technological development, dietary choices, and food production, climate change, demographic change, and policy reforms, among others. Ensuring food, water, and energy for the growing population remains a common global challenge. Taking on a multi- and interdisciplinary viewpoint, Water Resources and Economic Processes offers an up-to-date collection of contributions from leading scholars and works to gather research on important aspects of relevant fields and methodologies, including: Historical and long-term overview of the relations between income growth, water use, and technological development; Water markets and collaborative actions, promise and threats in the fight against water stress; Impact of climate change on water productivity, including inter- and intra-annual variations; Urban reforms and surveys on the attitude of citizens towards private and public mitigation and preservation measures; Regional, national, and global comparative case studies; International trade, migration, conflicts, and the globalisation of water; Methodological and empirical challenges of building future scenarios. This book is a key reference text for those studying water governance and management. It is suited to PhD students, national institutions, and NGOs, as well as other professionals interested in understanding sustainable water use at the local, national, and international scales.

Developmental Environmentalism Elizabeth Thurbon, Sung-Young Kim, Hao Tan, John A. Mathews, 2023 This book examines East Asia's approach to Developmental Environmentalism. Embracing this, East Asian governments are establishing their countries as leaders in green energy. This book contains analysis of national strategies, policymakers using economic policy for their green ambitions. They conclude by examining these lessons for other countries. Reforms and Issues in School Mathematics in East Asia, 2010-01-01 Worldwide efforts to improve students' learning of mathematics have turned educational researchers' attention to some high-achieving education systems, especially those in East Asia, including Chinese Mainland, Hong Kong, Japan, Singapore, South Korea, and Taiwan. However, there is much less sharing and learning of educational policy and practices that goes beyond one or two such high-achieving education systems. At this time, when educational changes and reforms for improving students' learning of mathematics are also underway within these high-achieving education systems in East Asia, it becomes timely and important for the world to learn why and how relevant changes take place across these selected education systems. This book has put together a set of papers that individually presents issues on the changing mathematics curriculum and teacher education in the six high-achieving education systems.

in East Asia Collectively the book extends beyond what we can learn about exemplary practices in individual education systems in East Asia It helps us develop a better understanding of the interplay between various measures for the pursuit of excellence in mathematics curriculum and teacher education on the one hand and the different system contexts on the other The intended readers of the book include education policy makers curriculum developers researchers teachers teacher educators and anyone else interested in school mathematics curriculum and teacher education
