Preparatory School, 1980 Managing School Districts for High Performance Stacey Childress, 2007 Managing School Districts for High Performance brings together more than twenty case studies and other readings that offer a powerful and transformative approach to advancing and sustaining the work of school improvement At the center of this work is the concept of organizational coherence aligning organizational design human capital management resource allocation and accountability and performance improvement systems to support an overarching strategy This central idea provides a valuable conceptual framework for current and future school leaders The case studies presented in Managing School Districts for High Performance grow out of the Public Education Leadership Project PELP a unique partnership between the Harvard Business School the Harvard Graduate School of Education and a network of urban school districts This rich array of cases explores the managerial challenges districts face as they seek to ensure rich learning opportunities and high achievement for all students across a system of schools This book of insightful case studies fills a void long felt by educational administrators in search of practical real world training tools It will serve as a catalyst for the tough conversations district leaders need to have about achieving high quality outcomes for all students The Broad Center for the Management of School Systems has used many of these cases with great success and we are excited that they are now compiled into a single collection Dan Katzir Managing Director The Broad Foundation This volume is not a treatise about how schools and districts should work Rather it provides a deep immersion in the real dilemmas involved in advancing school district reform Anyone who works through these cases cannot help but come away with a more informed vision for change a more reflective orientation about the interrelationships among the multiple tasks involved and a more prudent grasp of what it takes to educate all children to high academic standards The course of study presented by Managing School Districts for High Performance should be required professional education for anyone charged with advancing a coherent agenda of school improvement in our diverse demanding and rapidly changing society Anthony S Bryk Spencer Professor of Organizational Studies Stanford University

John Richard Novak,1996 Standard Setting in Education Sigrid Blömeke,Jan-Eric Gustafsson,2017-02-27 This book summarizes the international evidence on methodological issues in standard setting in education By critically discussing the standard setting practices implemented in the Nordic countries and by presenting new methodological approaches it offers fresh perspectives on the current research Standard setting targets crucial societal objectives by defining educational benchmarks at different achievement levels and provides feedback to policy makers schools and teachers about the strengths and weaknesses of a school system Given that the consequences of standard setting can be dramatic the quality of standard setting is a prime concern If it fails repercussions can be expected in terms of arbitrary evaluations of educational policy wrong turns in school or teacher development or misplacement of individual students Standard setting therefore needs to be accurate reliable valid useful and defensible However specific evidence on the benefits and limits of different approaches to standard setting is rare and scattered and there is a particular lack with respect to standard setting in the Nordic countries where the number of national tests is increasing and there are concerns about the time and effort spent on testing at schools without feedback being provided Addressing this gap the book offers a discussion on standard setting by respected experts as well as profound and innovative insights into fundamental aspects of standard setting including conclusions for future methodological and policy related research

Stiff,2019-08-29 The Stories We Tell Math Race Bias Opportunity positions educators as professional decision makers whose every day choices are deeply consequential After exploring topics ranging from the early identification of talent the use of demographic characteristics to make academic decisions and the problematic casting of a gap in mathematical performance as about the students themselves the book explores how professional decision making and a more precise use of data can impact mathematical performance outcomes With gentle precision the book analyzes the patterns of practice in place as educators sort children according to perceived needs Through case studies the authors reconfigure the mathematics achievement gap as being about opportunity provided or denied at both the classroom and systemic levels The book has implications for school personnel as well as others curious about how opportunity impacts outcomes and how data is or is not used to make decisions about children Educators who challenge themselves to engage with the possibility of bias and then face the stories we tell ourselves about the race talent development student merit relationship will have the opportunity to write a powerful and equitable story going forward
