Instructional Design for LIS Professionals Melissa A. Wong, 2019-05-03 A concise practical guide to effectively teaching current and future librarians in graduate programs professional settings and beyond. Many librarians are thrust into positions where they are asked to teach colleagues. Others choose to share their knowledge and experience by preparing the next generation of librarians in graduate programs. However, few such librarians have received any formal education in instructional design. In this book, Melissa A. Wong, an expert instructional designer, helps information professionals prepare for their roles as teachers of current and future librarians. Covering topics that range from syllabus construction to evaluation and student feedback, the book offers practical guidance on how to communicate with and support learners and how to come up with assignments and grade them, along with advice on accessibility issues and working with technologies such as LMS, OER videos, and PowerPoint. It demonstrates how to adapt principles of effective teaching to settings including workshops, professional development courses, conference presentations, and staff training. It also discusses professional challenges such as managing workload and shows how to adapt formal coursework to informal teaching situations. Librarians who wish to learn new methods or improve on their teaching and course design skills should read this book Flipping Academic English Language Learning Erik Voss, Ilka Kostka, 2019-06-17 This book draws on theory research and practice oriented literature to offer an introduction to flipped learning and offer busy instructors advice on how to flip their academic English language courses The chapters balance theoretical foundations practical applications and useful resources for developing materials The first half of this book defines flipped learning and academic English describes how it supports English language learning and explains the role of technology as well as issues with accountability and feedback The second half of the book then makes connections between the theoretical issues presented in the first three chapters and the practical applications in the following chapters which provide lesson descriptions and assessment ideas for language learning contexts with or without access to technology The book concludes with a list of tools and technologies for developing materials and activities as well as additional resources for professional development and further exploration of flipped English language learning
