Formalizing Relations And Functions Form:

A Tight, Practical Integration of Relations and Functions Harold Boley, 1999-09-29 As in other fields in computer science certain objects of study can be synthesized from different basic elements in different ways and with different resulting stabilities In subfields such as artificial intelligence computational logic and programming languages various relational and functional ingredients and techniques have been tried for the synthesis of declarative programs This text considers the notions of relations as found in logic programming or in relational databases and of functions as found in functional programming or in equational languages We study a declarative integration which is tight because it takes place right at the level of these notions and which is still practical because it preserves the advantages of the widely used relational and functional languages PROLOG and LISP The resulting relational and functional language RELFUN is used here for exemplifying all integration principles

The Nature and Role of Algebra in the K-14 Curriculum National Research Council, National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and Mathematical Sciences Education Board, Center for Science, Mathematics, and Engineering Education, 1998-09-23 With the 1989 release of Everybody Counts by the Mathematical Sciences Education Board MSEB of the National Research Council and the Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics NCTM the standards movement in K 12 education was launched Since that time the MSEB and the NCTM have remained committed to deepening the public debate discourse and understanding of the principles and implications of standards based reform One of the main tenets in the NCTM Standards is commitment to providing high quality mathematical experiences to all students Another feature of the Standards is emphasis on development of specific mathematical topics across the grades In particular the Standards emphasize the importance of algebraic thinking as an essential strand in the elementary school curriculum Issues related to school algebra are pivotal in many ways Traditionally algebra in high school or earlier has been considered a gatekeeper critical to participation in postsecondary education especially for minority students Yet as traditionally taught first year algebra courses have been characterized as an unmitigated disaster for most students There have been many shifts in the algebra curriculum in schools within recent years Some of these have been successful first steps in increasing enrollment in algebra and in broadening the scope of the algebra curriculum Others have compounded existing problems Algebra is not yet conceived of as a K 14 subject Issues of opportunity and equity persist Because there is no one answer to the dilemma of how to deal with algebra making progress requires sustained dialogue experimentation reflection and communication of ideas and practices at both the local and national levels As an initial step in moving from national level dialogue and speculations to concerted local and state level work on the role of algebra in the curriculum the MSEB and the NCTM co sponsored a national symposium The Nature and Role of Algebra in the K 14 Curriculum on May 27 and 28 1997 at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington D C

Heritage” , Foundations of Constructive Mathematics M.J. Beeson,2012-12-06 This book is about some recent work in a subject usually considered part of logic and the foundations of mathematics but also having close connections with philosophy and computer science Namely the creation and study of formal systems for constructive mathematics The general organization of the book is described in the User s Manual which follows this introduction and the contents of the book are described in more detail in the introductions to Part One Part Two Part Three and Part Four This introduction has a different purpose it is intended to provide the reader with a general view of the subject This requires to begin with an elucidation of both the concepts mentioned in the phrase formal systems for constructive mathematics Constructive mathematics refers to mathematics in which when you prove that a thing exists having certain desired properties you show how to find it Proof by contradiction is the most common way of proving something exists without showing how to find it one assumes that nothing exists with the desired properties and derives a contradiction It was only in the last two decades of the nineteenth century that mathematicians began to exploit this method of proof in ways that nobody had previously done that was partly made possible by the creation and development of set theory by Georg Cantor and Richard Dedekind Reflections on the Foundations of Mathematics Wilfried Sieg,Richard Sommer,Carolyn Talcott,2017-03-30 Since their inception the Perspectives in Logic and Lecture Notes in Logic series have published seminal works by leading logicians Many of the original books in the series have been unavailable for years but they are now in print once again This volume the fifteenth publication in the Lecture Notes in Logic series collects papers presented at the symposium Reflections on the Foundations of Mathematics held in celebration of Solomon Feferman s 70th birthday The Feferfest at Stanford University California in 1988 Feferman has shaped the field of foundational research for nearly half a century These papers reflect his broad interests as well as his approach to foundational research which emphasizes the solution of mathematical and philosophical problems There are four sections covering proof theoretic analysis logic and computation applicative and self applicative theories and philosophy of modern mathematical and logic thought Corporate Culture as a Formula for Company Success in the Digital Economy Ashot Khachaturyan,2025-02-21 Corporate culture plays a key role in the success of any organization influencing not only the internal atmosphere but also the external perception of the company It forms the basis on which relations between employees and management are built determines the management style and approach to solving work tasks The importance of creating and maintaining a healthy corporate culture cannot be overestimated as it directly affects employee motivation labor productivity and the overall success of the company Corporate culture is always a priori unique for each company This model of optimal interaction between all employees can take years to build it all depends on the interest of the management Its main task is to create a comfortable environment for result orientation A close knit team of like minded people united by a common corporate culture is able to show true professionalism and work miracles to achieve their goals In the digital economy there are fundamentally new requirements for corporate culture institutions The digital economy is not only a large scale technological breakthrough but also the corresponding creation of a new culture values and behavioral norms The target model of digital human capital competencies assumes the presence of cognitive skills self development organization management skills achievement of results solving non standard tasks adaptability social and behavioral skills communication interpersonal skills intercultural interaction and digital skills systems building information management The digitalization of the economy requires radical changes in both the personality and skills of the employee The situation is aggravated by the fact that the new generation is constantly faced with emerging and disappearing professions and technological innovations shorten the life span of any profession The need to participate in the global digital economy requires training not only programmers and engineers but also fundamentally new types of specialists At the same time the use of digital technologies will lead to a reduction in employment in many professions and in the future even to their complete disappearance

Informalization Cas Wouters, 2007-10-29 This book shows that manners far from being superficial adornments of behaviour are thoroughly interwoven with our personalities and the structures of our societies The concept of informalization provides both an invaluable addition to Norbert Elias's theory of civilizing processes and a most useful tool for understanding how changes in manners are related to shifts in the balances of power between social classes sexes and generations Johan Goudsblom University of Amsterdam Cas Wouters stakes out a powerful theory about changes in human relationships in the Western world over the past twelve decades essential reading for anyone interested in the contemporary human condition Theory and Society It is written in clear unequivocal language abounds with detail and replaces many normative statements about the alienating state of contemporary capitalist mass consumption oriented bureaucracy A nuanced subtle and theoretically informed analysis of the sometimes quite chaotic civilising process of the last century Figurations This original book explains the sweeping changes to twentieth century regimes of manners and self Broad in scope and deep in analytic reach it provides a wealth of empirical evidence to demonstrate how changes in the code of manners and emotions in four countries Germany Netherlands England and the US have undergone increasing informalization From the growing taboo toward the displays of superiority and inferiority and diminishing social and psychocological distance between people it reveals an emancipation of emotions and the new representation of emotion at the centre of personality This thought provoking book traces The increasing permissiveness in public and private manners such as introductions the use of personal pronouns social kissing dancing and dating The ascent and integration of a wide variety of groups including the working classes women youth and immigrants and the sweeping changes this has imposed on relations of social inferiority and superiority Shifts in self regulation that require manners to seem natural at ease and authentic Rising external social constraints towards being reflexive showing presence of mind considerateness role taking and the ability to tolerate and control conflicts Growing interdependence and social integration declining power differences and the diminishing social and psychic distance between people Continuing the analysis of Sex and Manners SAGE 2004 this
