Forge New Old Report Weather York:

Historical Climate Variability and Impacts in North America Lesley-Ann Dupigny-Giroux, Cary J. Mock, 2009-09-18

Climatologists with an eye on the past have any number of sources for their work from personal diaries to weather station reports Piecing together the trajectory of a weather event can thus be a painstaking process taking years and involving real detective work Missing pieces of a climate puzzle can come from very far afield often in unlikely places In this book a series of case studies examine specific regions across North America using instrumental and documentary data from the 17th to the 19th centuries Extreme weather events such as the Sitka hurricane of 1880 are recounted in detail while the chapters also cover more widespread phenomena such as the collapse of the Low Country rice culture The book also looks at the role of weather station histories in complementing the instrumental record and sets out the methods that involve early instrumental and documentary climate data Finally the book s focus on North America reflects the fact that the historical climate community there has only grown relatively recently Up to now most such studies have focused on Europe and Asia The four sections begin with regional case studies and move on to reconstruct extreme events and parameters This is followed by the role of station history and lastly methodologies and other analyses The editors aim has been to produce a volume that would be instrumental in molding the next generation of historical climatologists They designed this book for use by general researchers as well as in upper level undergraduate or graduate level courses Climatological Data, New York United States. Environmental Data Service, 1955 Official Daily Market Report, 1903 Climatological Data. New York, 1954

Bell & Howell Newspaper Index to the New Orleans Times-picayune, the States-item, 1981 Climatological Data for the United States by Sections, 1986 Collection of the monthly climatological reports of the United States by state or region with monthly and annual national summaries Climatological Data, 1953 *Report of the Department of the Interior ... Environmental Data Service, 2002 The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association American Iron and Steel Association, 1869 Forest and Stream, 1908 Iron Trade Review, 1905 Automotive Industries, 1923 Vols for 1919 include an Annual statistical issue title varies Climatological Data United States. Environmental Data Service, 1984 The Economist, 1860 The Politics and Culture of Modern Sports Sheldon Anderson, 2015-12-15 This study examines the role of modern sports in constructing national identities and the way leaders have exploited sports to achieve domestic and foreign policy goals The book focuses on the development of national sporting cultures in Great Britain and the United States the particular processes by which the rest of Europe and the world adopted or rejected their games and the impact of sports on domestic politics and foreign affairs Teams competing in international sporting events provide people a shared national experience and a means to differentiate us from them Particular attention is paid to the transnational influences on the construction of sporting communities and why some areas resisted dominant sporting cultures while others adopted them and changed them to fit their particular political or societal needs A recurrent theme of the book is that as much as they try politicians have been frustrated in their attempts to achieve political ends through sport The book provides a basis for understanding the political economic social and diplomatic contexts in which these games were played and to present issues that spur further discussion and research
