Abstract

WARNING: Improper use or maintenance of this equipment is a serious safety hazard. Improper use or maintenance of this equipment may result in personal injury or death. Safety-related items are listed below.

- [illegible]

- Principle of non-interference: non-interference means that the state is not to interfere with the internal affairs of other states. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 2(4) of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of conducting surveillance and military operations in other countries without their consent.
- Principle of self-determination: self-determination is the right of a people to freely determine their political status and to pursue their economic, social, and cultural development. This principle is also enshrined in Article 1 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of supporting and conducting operations in countries that are not its own.
- Principle of proportionality: proportionality is the principle that the use of force must be proportional to the threat that it is intended to address. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 51 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of using disproportionate force in its military operations.
- Principle of necessity: necessity is the principle that the use of force must be necessary to address a threat. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 51 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of using force in situations where it was not necessary.
- Principle of distinction: distinction is the principle that the use of force must be directed only at military targets. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 51 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of conducting operations that target civilians.
- Principle of non-refoulement: non-refoulement is the principle that a state must not return a person to a country where they would be at risk of persecution or torture. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 33 of the UN Refugee Convention. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of returning detainees to countries where they would be at risk of persecution or torture.
- Principle of human rights: human rights are the rights that are inherent to all human beings. These rights are enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international human rights treaties. The war on terror has been accused of violating these rights, as it has involved the use of torture, indefinite detention, and other practices that are inconsistent with human rights.
- Principle of accountability: accountability is the principle that those who are responsible for violations of international law must be held accountable. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 1 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of not holding those responsible for its actions accountable.
- Principle of transparency: transparency is the principle that the actions of a state must be open to public scrutiny. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 1 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of conducting operations in secret.
- Principle of non-discrimination: non-discrimination is the principle that the use of force must not be based on race, ethnicity, or religion. This principle is a cornerstone of international law and is enshrined in Article 1 of the UN Charter. It is a principle that is often violated in the context of the war on terror, as the US has been accused of targeting specific groups of people.
- Principle of proportionality: proportionality is the principle that the use of force must be proportional to the threat that it is intended to address. NOTE: Turn OFF engine and let 5 minutes cool down before performing the test.

1. Measure charge rate by recording the pressure in the gas cylinder before and after the test.
2. Remove test pipe and BSC from the system and connect the test pipe to the gas cylinder.
3. Discuss the Differential Pressure (DP) sensor connection and Control Valve (CV) operation.
4. Differential Pressure sensor must be secured.
5. Record the pressure in the gas consumer tube, lifting arm to the test pipe.
6. On the BSC, set the Control Valve Type to ON/OFF/ON and Close Valve ON/OFF/ON and set the test pipe closed test pipe only with Manual Charge.
7. Record the pressure in the test pipe and the control valve and keep it in place.
8. Set the pressure in the control valve using regulator from Look Test Kit at 50. Close valve and record supply.
9. After the gas valve after the supply system, pressure should not reduce. Large leaks should have a pressure drop. If there is no internal leak in the system, if pressure drops, and bubbles are not present, remove them as external leaks from test kit using a soap and water solution.
10. Is there an internal leak in the system?
- A. Change BSC control if no.
- B. If no, fix the internal control system leaks. Suspect the control not released from an external part and external leakage to engine.
