STRONG<sup>4</sup>LIFE

As kids grow older, they face new stressors and challenges. By helping your child develop healthy copng skills (tools to help them manage their feelings and reduce stress), you're helping them become more resilient (better able to handle life's ups and downs).

Why practice guided imagery?

Our minds are powerful and we can use our imagination to visualize almost anything. This relaxation exercise uses words, images and all five senses to help move attention away from worry and stress to a more relaxed state.

It is difficult to learn something new when we are anxious, angry or distracted.

Teaching and practicing coping skills when everyone is calm gives us a variety of tools we can use to manage our feelings and reduce stress.

How to practice guided imagery

- Find a comfortable place to sit or lie down and, if you feel comfortable, close your eyes.
- Take a few deep breaths in through your nose and out through your mouth.
- Imagine yourself in a place where you feel safe, happy and comfortable. This might be a favorite place you go, somewhere you have been before or somewhere you've completely made up. It's up to you.
- Once you have picked out a place, imagine yourself there.
- Think about every detail that makes this place special for you.

What do you see?

What do you smell?

What do you hear?

What do you taste?

What can you touch?

- Take a few moments and notice how your body feels to enjoy your time in this place.
- When it is time to leave, know that you can return here any time, wherever you are, whenever you need to feel calm.
- Over the next few seconds, take a deep breath in through your nose and out through your mouth. Slowly open your eyes, and notice how your body feels. Are your muscles relaxed? Is your mind calm?
