

Critical Reading Activity B-2: Electing the President

Directions: Use the information in your textbook to complete the diagrams.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE SYSTEM
In 1788	In 1804	Today
Each state chose electors a equal to the number of senators and representatives. The Electoral College voted for president in their own states. The electorater with the most votes became president and the next state the next highest number of votes became the president.	The 12th Amendment requires electors to cast separate ballots for president and vice president. It also prohibits electors from meeting and voting.	Preside the state with the most electoral votes becomes president and vice president. In all states party candidates for their state. The electoral College of electors will have the number members of electors will have senators and representatives.

Directions: Use the information in your textbook to complete these statements.

1. According to the original plan all members, the Electoral College system is equal to the state votes that is having a candidate, select the party which candidate a member the popular vote in any state wins all the state's electoral votes.
2. Another Electoral College is the only party a candidate could possibly win through electoral votes, the president elects major party candidate from winning the majority of votes.
3. If the House votes for the president, and some members of the House have a strong belief party candidate, it might be hard for any candidate to win 20 votes.
4. The proposed system of the Electoral College system is to choose electors from
