Memorandum Theory Grade 12 Paper 1 2014 November:

The New Politics of Regionalism Ulf Engel, Heidrun Zinecker, Frank Mattheis, Antje Dietze, Thomas Plötze, 2016-10-04
This edited volume approaches regionalism as one potential pattern in a changing global order. Since the end of the Cold War, different forms of territorialization have emerged, and we are confronted with an increasing number and variety of actors that are establishing regional projects. This volume offers an innovative contribution to the study of this new complexity by exploring constellations of regional actors, spatial scales, and imaginations beyond state-centred perspectives, as well as on multiple, often overlapping levels. The chapters analyse the emergence, trajectories, and outcomes of regionalisms from the perspective of the Global South, specifically concentrating on regional projects in Latin America and Africa, but also in the Asia Pacific. They attempt to identify the specific conditions and junctures of different forms of region-making in their external, global, and internal, local, national dimensions. The volume also places special emphasis on interactions, spatial entanglements, and comparisons between regionalisms in different parts of the world. By expanding beyond the perspective of North-South transfers, this book seeks to better understand the dynamics and diversity of interregional interactions. This volume will appeal to scholars of global studies, international political economy, international relations, human geography, and development studies, as well as area studies specialists who focus on Latin America and Africa. Knowledge, Curriculum and Equity Brian Barrett, Ursula Hoadley, John Morgan, 2017-07-20
In 2008, the first in a series of symposia established a social realist case for knowledge as an alternative to the relativist tendencies of the constructivist, post-structuralist, and postmodernist approaches dominant in the sociology of education. The second symposium focused on curriculum and the development of a theoretical language grounded in social realism to talk about issues of knowledge and curriculum. Finally, the third symposium brought together researchers in a broad range of contexts to build on these ideas and arguments and, with a concerted empirical focus, bring these social realist ideas and arguments into conversation with data. Knowledge, Curriculum and Equity: Social Realist Perspectives contains the work of the third symposium, where the strengths and gaps in the social realist approach are identified, and where there is critical recognition of the need to incrementally extend the theories through empirical study. Fundamentally, the problem that social realism is seeking to address is about understanding the social conditions of knowledge production and exchange, as well as its structuring in the curriculum and in pedagogy. The central concern is with the on-going social reproduction of inequality through schooling, and exploring whether and how foregrounding specialised knowledge and its access holds the possibility for interrupting it. This book consists of 13 chapters by different authors working in Oceania, Asia, Europe, Africa, and North America. From very different vantage points, the authors focus their theoretical and empirical sights on the assumptions about knowledge that underpin educational processes and the pursuit of more equitable schooling for all. The Sacking of Fallujah Ross Caputi, Richard Hil, Donna Mulhearn, 2019-08-30
The Iraqi city of Fallujah has become an epicenter of geopolitical conflict where foreign powers and non state actors have repeatedly waged war in residential neighborhoods with staggering humanitarian consequences The Sacking of Fallujah is the first comprehensive study of the three recent sieges of this city including those by the United States in 2004 and the Iraqi led operation to defeat ISIS in 2016 Unlike dominant military accounts that focus on American soldiers and U S leaders and perpetuate the myth that the United States liberated the city this book argues that Fallujah was destroyed by coalition forces leaving public health crises political destabilization and mass civilian casualties in their wake This meticulously researched account cuts through the propaganda to uncover the lived experiences of Fallujans under siege and occupation and contextualizes these events within a broader history of U S policy in the Middle East Relying on testimony from Iraqi civilians the work of independent journalists and documentation from human rights organizations Ross Caputi Richard Hil and Donna Mulhearn place the experiences of Fallujah s residents at the center of this city s recent history
