organizer and labor historian Dave Kamper details how labor reemerged with newfound strength as workers began to question the status quo and demand more from their employers. Interviewing workers and labor leaders across the country, Kamper captures the stories of those on the front lines: from Frito Lay workers in Kansas and Chicago teachers to Amazon warehouse employees in New York and Detroit autoworkers. Offering a compelling account of how industry after industry strikes, protests, and bold negotiations signaled the rise of a more coordinated effort to reclaim control over working conditions, grounding the present with rich historical examples and drawing upon his years of experience making union concepts accessible to the general reader, Kamper provides a front row seat to a new wave of labor activism that isn't just about wages and benefits; it's about dignity and solidarity. An up-to-the-minute look at a brand new phenomenon, Who's Got the Power, featuring a foreword by Association of Flight Attendants president Sara Nelson, is essential reading for anyone interested in understanding the seismic changes in American labor today.
