Developing Future-ready Learners for a Global Age Suzanne S. Choo, Woon Chia Liu, Bee Leng Chua, 2024-12-02 Suzanne S Choo Woon Chia Liu and Bee Leng Chua offer a dynamic look into the tripartite relationship between education research policy and practice that characterizes Singapore's changing education landscape. Over the years, Singapore has garnered increasing attention internationally for its world-class education system. Pushing back against the stereotypical notions of exam and teacher-centric education in Asia, the contributors to this volume discuss opportunities as well as challenges in Singapore's innovation towards constructivist, critical, culturally responsive, and cosmopolitan forms of learning. Highlighting the pedagogical innovation and its context in Singapore's teacher education and schools, the authors bridge theory and practice by providing an understanding of innovative practices informed by key shifts in Singapore's education policies and the key conceptual principles informing these practices. More importantly, it provides on-the-ground empirical insights into the ways these innovative pedagogical practices are enacted in the classroom and in teacher education programmes. Each chapter provides an in-depth understanding of how these pedagogies are applied across various subject disciplines, including guided problem-solving in Mathematics, games-based pedagogy in Science, multimodal literacies in language, ethical criticism in Literature, Nonlinear Pedagogy in Physical Education, multicultural approaches in music, and dialogic pedagogy in drama, among others. Balancing theoretical and empirical focus, this resourceful text will be of interest to students, researchers, and practitioners in educational development, pedagogy, and teacher education, as well as policymakers across international fields in education.

Chemistry Education and Sustainability in the Global Age Mei-Hung Chiu, Hsiao-Lin Tuan, Hsin-Kai Wu, Jing-Wen Lin, Chin-Cheng Chou, 2012-12-05 This edited volume of papers from the twenty-first International Conference on Chemical Education attests to our rapidly changing understanding of the chemistry itself as well as to the potentially enormous material changes in how it might be taught in the future. Covering the full range of appropriate topics, the book features work exploring themes as various as e-learning and innovations in instruction and micro-scale lab chemistry. In sum, the 29 articles published in these pages focus the reader's attention on ways to raise the quality of chemistry teaching and learning, promoting the public understanding of chemistry, deploying innovative technology in pedagogy, practice, and research, and the value of chemistry as a tool for highlighting sustainability issues in the global community. Thus, the ambitious dual aim achieved in these pages is, on the one hand, to foster improvements in the teaching and communication of chemistry, whether to students or the public, and secondly, to promote advances in our broader understanding of the subject that will have positive knock-on effects on the world's citizens and environment. In doing so, the book addresses, as did the conference, the neglect suffered in the chemistry classroom by issues connected to globalization, even as it outlines ways to bring the subject alive in the classroom through the use of innovative technologies.

The Politics of Labor in a Global Age Christopher Candland, Rudra Sil, 2001-09-20 The Politics of Labor in a Global Age is one of the first works to analyse and compare recent shifts in patterns of industrial relations across late industrializing and post socialist economies The volume features original and timely essays on labor relations at national local and workplace levels as economic and political actors cope with the similar challenges associated with economic adjustment measures and the impact of globalization The authors reveal that while globalization has threatened the position of organized labor and prompted business and state elites to accommodate greater labor market flexibility the legacies of past institutions remain evident in distinctive trends in labor politics within and across late industrializing and post socialist settings The comparisons suggest that globalization is best understood not as a source of convergence but as a set of common pressures that are mediated by specific historical inheritances that spur varied responses on the part of industrial relations actors and that facilitate quite diverse institutional outcomes
