

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of soldiers from different parts of the United States, including the North and South. This diversity of background and experience is what makes the regiment so unique.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were often hostile and disrespectful to the African-American soldiers. They saw them as inferior and not worthy of the same treatment as white soldiers. However, as the movie progresses, some of the white soldiers begin to change their attitudes and see the African-American soldiers as individuals and not just as a race.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, African-American soldiers in the Union army were not treated equally to white soldiers. They were often paid less, given less food, and treated with more disrespect than white soldiers. However, the movie shows that some African-American soldiers were able to overcome these hardships and become heroes of the war.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his principles. He believed that the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was worthy of the same respect and treatment as white regiments, and he was willing to sacrifice his own life to prove it.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings/oughts does your tell, why?

The incident ended as I expected. I felt that the 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a brave and noble regiment, and I was proud of them for their service to the Union. I also felt that the movie was a good representation of the role of African-American soldiers in the Civil War.
