Migrating to Opportunity Mauro Testaverde,Harry Moroz,Claire H. Hollweg,Achim Schmillen,2017-10-02 The movement of people in Southeast Asia is an issue of increasing importance Countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN are now the origin of 8 percent of the world s migrants These countries host only 4 percent of the world s migrants but intra regional migration has turned Malaysia Singapore and Thailand into regional migration hubs that are home to 6 5 million ASEAN migrants However significant international and domestic labor mobility costs limit the ability of workers to change firms sectors and geographies in ASEAN This report takes an innovative approach to estimate the costs for workers to migrate internationally Singapore and Malaysia have the lowest international labor mobility costs in ASEAN while workers migrating to Myanmar and Vietnam have the highest costs Singapore and Malaysia s more developed migration systems are a key reason for their lower labor mobility costs How easily workers can move to take advantage of new opportunities is important in determining how they fare under the increased economic integration planned for ASEAN To study this question the report simulates how worker welfare is affected by enhanced trade integration under different scenarios of labor mobility costs Region wide worker welfare would be 14 percent higher if barriers to mobility were reduced for skilled workers and an additional 29 percent if barriers to mobility were lowered for all workers Weaknesses in migration systems increase international labor mobility costs but policy reforms can help Destination countries should work toward systems that are responsive to economic needs and consistent with domestic policies Sending countries should balance protections for migrant workers with the needs of economic development
