Antiracism in Black British and British Asian Writing offers the first extended exploration of the cultural impact of race and antiracism in Britain through the lens of black British and British Asian literature With antiracism the politics of opposing discrimination increasingly determining racial categorizations and identities this study traces its influence over the last two decades on individual identities and the wider political debate including the changing attitudes toward Muslim culture in Britain and the role of Africa as a symbolic focus for black political culture This volume will be of interest to anyone seeking a better understanding of the nuances of antiracism in Britain

The Politics of Muslim Intellectual Discourse in the West Dilyana Mincheva, 2016-01-15 This book is a case study in the literary psychoanalytic and theological encounters between diasporic Muslim intellectuals and secular western modernity It centres on the simultaneous search for the possibility of both a reformation of Islamic fundamentalism and a transformation of the exclusionary limitations of western public institutions With roots in original research in the fields of comparative religion and cultural studies and drawing on sources in English French and Arabic the author introduces and elaborates the concept of Western Islamic public sphere This concept defines what is at stake in the formative play of public representations where traditionalist foundations and modernist adaptations meet clash and produce discourse around their common disequilibrium The Western Islamic public sphere which is secular but not secularist and which is Islamic but not Islamist within which a critical Islamic intellectual universe can unfold deals hermeneutically with texts and politically with lived practices It emerges from within the arc of two alternative conflicting yet equally dismissive suspicions defined by a view that critical Islam is the new imperial rhetoric of hegemonic orientalism and the opposite view that critical Islam is just fundamentalism camouflaged in liberal rhetoric This innovative and original scholarly apparatus offers a third view one that arises in its practice from ethical commitment to intellectual engagement creativity and imagination as a portal to the open horizons of conflictual history

Making Time Carolin Gebauer, 2021-04-19 2023 Perkins Prize of the International Society for the Study of Narrative ESSE Book Award for Junior Scholars for a book in the field of Literatures in the English Language Responding to the current surge in present tense novels Making Time is an innovative contribution to narratological research on present tense usage in narrative fiction Breaking with the tradition of conceptualizing the present tense purely as a deictic category denoting synchronicity between a narrative event and its presentation the study redefines present tense narration as a fully fledged narrative strategy whose functional potential far exceeds temporal relations between story and discourse The first part of the volume presents numerous analytical categories that systematically describe the formal structural functional and syntactic dimensions of present tense usage in narrative fiction These categories are then deployed to investigate the uses and functions of present tense narration in selected twenty first century novels including Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall Margaret Atwood's Oryx and Crake Ian McEwan's Nutshell and Irvine Welsh's Skagboys The seven case studies serve to illustrate the ubiquity of present tense narration in contemporary fiction ranging from the historical novel to the thriller and to investigate the various ways in which the present tense contributes to narrative worldmaking Interdisciplinarity, Multidisciplinarity and Transdisciplinarity in Humanities Eugene Steele, 2016-02-29 The domination of single subjects in academic programmes and institutions has recently been called into question Literary studies are currently opening themselves up to the epistemological renewal that other fields can offer They are increasingly borrowing theoretical tools from other subjects in order to analyse the historical socio political and institutional conditions of the production of literary texts to identify the general discursive circumstances in which they emerge and to study the relationship between literature and other media Similarly while subjects such as sociology history and political science have always been closely related if not literally spinoffs from one another as in the case of sociology vis vis anthropology what becomes of their specificities when they borrow from geography to address space related issues from psychology to understand social actors individual motivations or from literary studies to make sense of individual or collective narratives The present volume accounts for experiments in research that overstep disciplinary boundaries by analysing the new fields and methodologies emerging in the contemporary globalised academic environment which puts a strong premium on synergism and linkages Moreover it assesses current theoretical reflections on inter multi and transdisciplinarity as well as research grounded in it and measures their impact on the evolution of scholarship and curriculum in the fields of literature language and humanities The Economist, 2004

Another Love Asma Abbas, 2018-10-15 In a time when our loves feel conscripted and exhausted by what we often do not remember desiring Another Love A Politics of the Unrequited explores the form method imperatives and inflections of love in the global post colony and offers a way to re apprehend and re inscribe love in an anticolonial materialist and nonfascist politics and aesthetics The figure of the unrequited is invoked as a symptom of a brutally loveless yet effusively sentimentalized era and also as an ineluctable yet very concrete political location in the face of both the intensifying external realities of war occupation apartheid austerity and terror as well as the increasingly normalized internalizations of ordinary imperialism nationalism neoliberalism fascism and colonialism all of which seem bent on extinguishing the possibility of relation itself The book asks that we look at practices of love and other material labors that yield and sustain these realities within complex lifeworlds indeed those which sustain entire systems of our subjection extraction and disposability such as colonialism capitalism liberalism and fascism as lifeworlds especially when given dominant forms of recognition affection embrace and belonging are unacceptable or even repulsive Distancing itself from shortcuts afforded by love's abstract forms deployed in ethical and moral discourses that at once elevate it yet wholly reduce it to a timeless apolitical essence Another Love sees love as a material and political relation to time and space signaling willed and unwilled shifts in historical reality in societies juggling various wars and annihilations It maintains that love is something in and with which we confess our complicities not only with but also against hegemonic notions of belonging devotion martyrdom hospitality publicity collectivity and solidarity nurtured and harvested under capital and colony The longing and the love missed by the pernicious and reactionary politics both of liberal democracy and the incidental fascisms that it claims to set out to fix can give us clues into past present and future moments of rebellion resistance rejection and redemption that are crucial to a liberatory anticolonial and antifascist politic and to rethinking attachment desire and relation itself British Asian fiction Sara

Upstone, 2013-07-19 This is the first text to focus solely on the writing of British writers of South Asian descent born or raised in Britain Exploring the unique contribution of these writers it positions their work within debates surrounding black British diasporic migrant and postcolonial literature in order to foreground both the continuities and tensions embedded in their relationship to such terms engaging in particular with the ways in which this new generation has been denied the right to a distinctive theoretical framework through absorption into pre-existing frames of reference Focusing on the diversity of contemporary British Asian experience the book engages with themes including gender national and religious identity the reality of post 9/11 Britain the post-ethnic self urban belonging generational difference and youth identities as well as indicating how these writers manipulate genre and the novel form in support of their thematic concerns Outlook, 2008

British Muslim Fictions C. Chambers, 2012-03-09 Through interviews with leading writers including Ahdaf Soueif and Hanif Kureishi this book analyzes the writing and opinions of novelists of Muslim heritage based in the UK Discussion centres on writers' work literary techniques and influences and on their views of such issues as the hijab the war on terror and the Rushdie Affair
