

What's changed recently?

What's the current effect on the market?

In your introduction, we talked about what factors companies will pay their shareholders to invest in (today, you will want to focus on R&D).
Presented with the data (page 10-5, 10-6, 10-7), and earlier research, look up the following research questions and find out what effect they have on companies' current R&D spending (and not forgetting the influence of the business model).
Quick, you have 10 minutes to go to the point!

1. What indicators do you get from a company's R&D spending?
According to the research, if R&D spending is high, companies are more likely to invest in R&D, and R&D spending is more likely to be high. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
2. What indicators indicate R&D? According to the research, R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market, and R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
3. What indicators show a company's R&D spending will grow? A company's R&D spending will grow if the company is in a high-growth market, and R&D spending will grow if the company is in a high-growth market. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
4. What indicators are important? R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market, and R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
5. What the process the company is investing in R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market, and R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
6. What the importance of R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market, and R&D spending is high if the company is in a high-growth market. R&D spending is also more likely to be high if the company is in a high-growth market.
