

What is Federalism?

idea: The federal system of government utilized by the United States provides both benefits and responsibilities to the states, established government by dividing powers between the levels of government.

Question: Summarize the quotation below using the information in the Lesson Commentary on this previous page. (4 points each)

Lesson 1: An Overview of the Constitution

1. Create hypotheses: What do American citizens consider popular sovereignty?

Interpretation for strategic thinking as discussed above and highlighted: A basic principle of the U.S. government is self-rule.

2. Analyze the Chapter 1 that details the system of checks and balances. The phrase of the government is actually set apart. Do you agree with this opinion? Why or why not? Yes, I agree that the government is actually set apart from other parts of the government. Because the government is actually set apart from other parts of the government, it is able to control the government and the government is able to control the government. The system of checks and balances is actually set apart from other parts of the government. The system of checks and balances is actually set apart from other parts of the government. The system of checks and balances is actually set apart from other parts of the government.

Lesson 2: Amending the Constitution

3. Compare and Contrast What is similar about why Congress should make changes to the Constitution? What are the methods of amending the Constitution?

Both Congress and the states have the right to change the Constitution through the process of making laws. Congress can change the Constitution through the process of making laws. The states can change the Constitution through the process of making laws.

There are two different ways to amend the Constitution. Congress can change the Constitution through the process of making laws. The states can change the Constitution through the process of making laws. The states can change the Constitution through the process of making laws. The states can change the Constitution through the process of making laws.

4. Identify Causes and Effects: How might it be necessary to the Constitution have
