EBOOK: Reconceptualising Evaluation in Higher Education: The Practice Turn Murray Saunders, Paul Trowler, Veronica Bamber, 2011-05-16 A considerable amount of money is invested in an ongoing basis on large scale projects to enhance the quality of teaching and learning within the higher education sector Examples from the

UK include the Teaching Quality Enhancement Fund and the creation of CELTS Centres for Excellence in Learning and Teaching. Similar initiatives can be found in most other Westernized countries. These projects and other smaller institutional projects require evaluation but the higher education sector has not conceptualized such evaluation work and therefore the opportunity to understand the value of such projects is frequently missed. Reconceptualising Evaluative Practices in HE aims to aid understanding drawing on a set of evaluative practices from the UK and internationally to foster understanding which will be of genuine value and relevance to higher education over an indefinite period of time. Paying for Education Peter Davies, 2018-04-18 Which type of education should we pay for? How much education should we pay for? Can we buy knowledge about how to improve education? Uniquely presenting a general overview of economic principles applicable to all sectors of education, Paying for Education makes key economic ideas accessible to non-economists whilst drawing on insights from other social science disciplines. It examines the implications of its analysis especially for two important areas of policy: paying for teachers and paying for teaching in higher education in order to highlight some underlying issues and consider alternative policy options as well as reflect on possible futures. The chapters examine: The value of education for the individual; The value of education for society; Private and public demands for education; Choosing a system to supply education; The cost efficiency and equity of providing education; Analysing evidence and case studies on a global scale. Paying for Education is an essential read for academics, educational administrators, policy makers, leaders in educational organisations and all of those interested in the future of how we pay for education. Catalog of Copyright Entries. Associations, endowments, foundations and limited dividend companies have funded education, culture, healthcare, religion and social welfare. Yet American philanthropy is not as exceptional as it appears to European observers. American philanthropy was built upon European and Mediterranean precedents and evolved through the constant influence of philanthropic practices in other parts of the world. This book explores how philanthropic practices and institutions were introduced into American society and how they were Americanised during the 19th century. It provides a comprehensive history of American philanthropy and positions it within its wider global context. International Perspectives on Teaching Excellence in Higher Education Alan Skelton, 2013-05-13 There has been an explosion of interest in teaching excellence in higher education. Once labelled the poor relation of the research-teaching divide, teaching is now firmly on the policy agenda. Pressure on institutions to improve the quality of teaching has never been greater and significant funding seeks to promote teaching excellence in higher education institutions. This book constitutes the first serious scrutiny of how and why it should be achieved. International perspectives from educational researchers, award-winning teachers, practitioners and educational developers consider key topics including policy initiatives, research-led teaching, teaching excellence and scholarship, the significance of academic disciplines, research
